Break Believed To Be Near In Wyandot Murder Probe

'NO SACRIFICE TOO GREAT FOR US TO BEAR.' House speaker Joe Martin (left) and Massachusetts Gov. Christian Herter (right) greet President Eisenhower on his arrival in Boston to deliver a speech of major importance at a $100-a-plate Republican dinner. Later, the President told his audience that no tax or other sacrifices are too great for Americans to bear to guard against an enemy equipped with the "most terrible weapons of destruction."

'Soviet Flier' Illinois Civil Defense Stunt

'Airman' Is Jailed In Champaign as False Reports Fly

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — A civil defense exercise involving the Air Force and Illinois State police gave rise to false reports today that a Russian flier had landed in central Illinois in a MIG.

The report, carried over a national television network and broadcast over a Champaign radio station, brought a flood of inquiries from newspapers in several parts of the nation.

Word Spreads Fast

The word spread quickly throughout Champaign-Urbana and the courthouse buzzed with rumors.

The flier actually was a member of the Air Force Intelligence Service Squadron at O'Hare Field near Chicago who was flown to Chanute Field at Rantoul, Ill., last night.

It was an exercise to test coordination between the Air Force and State Police.

Chanute personnel transported him by car to a quarter of a mile from the state police headquarters at Urbana, Ill., where, as prearranged, he "surrendered."

Panic Started

The flier, identified by police as 1.C. Witold Glinski of Chicago, was garbed in an old type fur felt officers cap, Air Force jump boots and winter type coveralls. He wore an insignia bearing a hammer and sickle and carried a typewritten card reading: "I am a participant in an air defense exercise."

Someone pressed the panic button and the flier ended up in the Champaign County Jail. Reporters and photographers got wind of the unusual prisoner, but officials re-

President Keynotes Big Party Rally In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — President Eisenhower solemnly declared last night that no sacrifice—no tax, for example—is too burdensome for Americans determined to thwart "enemies of freedom equipped with the most terrible weapons of destruction."

Kicking of a Republican drive to hold control of Congress in the 1954 elections, the President got a round of applause in making that statement at a $100-a-plate party rally in Boston Garden.

New Tax Levy?

His remarks touched off speculation that the White House may be thinking about a new tax levy to help meet the Russian hydrogen bomb threat. There has been unconfirmed speculation the administration might ask Congress to approve a national sales tax.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) told the same rally of New England Republicans, however, "it is universally agreed that next January there will be a reduction in personal income taxes and the excess profits tax will be eliminated."

The President made no mention of those scheduled tax cuts.

It was the first time he had anything to say publicly about "terrible weapons of destruction" since Russia announced last month that it had exploded a hydrogen bomb. The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission confirmed it had detected a Russian atomic explosion which included hydrogen reactions.

5,000 in Audience

Eisenhower's speech was carried by nationwide television and radio networks. He spoke to a crowd of about 5,000 persons in the Garden, and dinner committee officials said 4,700 purchased $100 tickets.

The President flew back to Washington last night, completing a one-day round of speechmaking in Massachusetts which took him to Springfield as well as Boston.

Police estimated a quarter of a million persons turned out to welcome Eisenhower on his arrival

Soviet Purges Claim 2 More Red Leaders

Premier of Republic Of Georgia, Party Secretary Are Ousted

LONDON (AP)—The premier of the Georgian Soviet republic—homeland of Joseph Stalin and ousted Red police boss Lavrenty P. Beria—was added today to the growing list of Soviet purge victims. The first secretary of the Republic's communist party also was fired.

The governmen. radio in the republic's capital, Tiflis, announced Premier B. M. Bakhradze had been replaced by "Comrade Galatishvili" and that "Comrade Merkulava" was dismissed as party secretary.

It was the second shakeup in the strategic Georgian republic in three months and part of a continuing Kremlin purge of the subordinate republic governments begun after Beria's arrest was announced last June.

The radio said Bakhradze was ousted by a decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (legislature) of the republic.

That the Kremlin apparently considered the change of great importance was indicated by the broadcast's note that "Comrade Shatalin, secretary of the Central Committee of the U.S.S.R. Communist party took part in the work of the Georgian plenary session" at which the premier was kicked out.

Today's broadcast said the work of the Council of Ministers, which Bakhradze headed, and of the party bureau headed by Merkulava had been "unsatisfactory."

Cancels Press Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will not hold a news conference this week.

The White House, announcing this today, said the President plans however, to meet with newsmen a week from tomorrow.

Bankers Urged To Seek Policies 'Sound for All'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower urged the American Bankers Assn., today to seek policies that are "sound for all Americans—not for just one class, group or segment, but for all."

The President received a tremendous ovation of applause, whistles and cheers from the 3,800 bankers and their wives who filled Constitution Hall for his brief message of welcome to their convention.

Praises Splendid Job

He thanked them for "splendid work in helping to sell and distribute the government's savings bonds to all people."

"With more than 40 million people owning more than 50 million dollars worth of bonds, we know there is still an incentive and a determination to save—an incentive that is responsible for so many good things we enjoy," Eisenhower said.

Bankers Hear Head

Before the President's brief appearance Secretary of Agriculture Benson told the bankers that the nation's farm policy should shift from what he called centralization of power and undue dependence on government. He told the delegates they are in position to help strengthen the rural economy.

In another prepared speech W. Harold Brenton, president of the

U.S. Moves To Head Off U.N. Debate

Lodge Offers To Let Peace Delegates Settle Issue Over 'Neutrals'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States today proposed that the U. N. and Communist representatives at the Korean peace conference decide whether they want any neutral coutries to take part.

The proposal was made by U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. who offered to send a representative to Geneva, Honolulu or San Francisco to discuss arrangements with the Chinese Communists and North Koreans.

Lodge spoke in the 15-member Steering Committee of the U. N. General Assembly in opposing a move by Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky to have the assembly reopen debate on the composition of the peace conference.

Lodge told the committee the U. N. has already selected its representatives and that the Communist side was established in the armistice agreement.

"If developments at the conference warrant it," he said, "and the other side wants to include others they can make such a move."

He added:

"We are most anxious to facilitate a conference. We are prepared at once to dispatch a representative to meet a representative of Communist China and North Korea at any of the places we designated."

This was a reference to the recommendation of the 16 U. N. allies that the conference be held at Geneva, Honolulu or San Francisco.

Lodge said the United States had already transmitted to the Communists, through the Swedish government, its proposal to permit the conference itself determine whether its membership should be broadened to include non-belligerent countries.

British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd and French Delegate Henri Hoppenot quickly lined up behind Lodge's proposal. Both agreed the conference itself is competent to consider any suggestions to widen its own composition.

Lloyd declared no useful purpose can be served by another public debate on the question now.

Dean Arrives In Hawaii, Gets Gala Welcome

HONOLULU (AP)—Deeply moved at being back on American soil, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean comes home today from three years of Communist captivity in Korea.

Dean said it was 71 months since he last touched American soil in Hawaii on his way to Korea. The Medal of Honor winner looked ruddy and tanned and said he had added 18 pounds to the 162 he weighed when freed Sept. 4.

He is scheduled to leave Hickam Air Force Base at 10 a.m. (3 p.m. EST) on the 10-hour flight to Travis Air Force Base, Calif., where he will be met by his family.

A deluge of Hawaiian flowers, kisses and "welcome homes" greeted the General on his arrival from Tokyo last night.

"This is the thrill of my life, returning to my homeland, to American soil," Dean said as he stepped out of an Air Force transport.

"Not only I, but every repatriate I know has been talking all the way from Panmunjom about how wonderful it is to be a citizen of the United States returning home," the General said.

Beside him stood a fellow repatriate of Chinese ancestry. M. Sgt. Clarence Young of Honolulu.

"This is one of the heroes of the war," Dean said. "He didn't ever admit anything but American citizenship. The Chinese tried to work on him because he is half Chinese, but he insisted he was an American citizen."

Relatives who met Young burst into tears at Dean's words.

The two soldiers—Sgt. Young and Gen. Dean saluted briskly and snapped to attention as the band played tradtiional ruffles and flourishes.

Victim May Be Missing OWU Co-ed

Student Angle Not Confirmed by Sheriff; 'Good Lead' Checked

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Wyandot County authorities indicated today a "break" might be near in the mysterious death of an unidentified girl here last week.

There were reports here, unconfirmed by the sheriff's office that the present investigation included attempts to link the unidentified woman with a 19-year-old White Plains, N. Y., girl who last year was a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Missing Since August

The girl, Cynthia A. Pfeil, 19, was reported to have been missing from her home since mid-August and is believed to have gone somewhere in northern Ohio to visit a boy friend.

Sheriff Dean McAllister was told that before the young woman left her home, she conferred with police of her home town and told them her boy friend was extremely jealous.

The unidentified girl was found in a woods along a country road Friday. She was attired in a nightgown and a pair of red shoes, and her face bore about 20 wounds.

Another unconfirmed report here was that the red shoes had been traced through a trademark to White Plains.

Patrol Assisting

Local authorities were reported working closely with White Plains officials in an effort to establish identity. The State Highway Patrol was assisting in the investigation.

Although they would not confirm the co-ed angle, Sheriff Dean McAllister and his deputies did say they were following a "very good lead" which might unravel the mystery of the girl's death.

A deputy said the department was making fast progress toward identifying the mysterious young brunette who was found murdered along a deserted gravel road, three miles north of Upper Sandusky. The sheriff said it was possible that the identification would be made yet today.

An autopsy report received from Columbus late yesterday afternoon revealed that the woman had been strangled, beaten, stabbed in the face and head some 20 times, and suffered a fractured skull before her killer dumped her in a near-by woods. Officials were not sure what the actual cause of death was. They expressed the belief that a screwdriver, crowbar or tire tool was the weapon which tore the gashes on the girl's face.

The report revealed that the girl was eight or ten weeks pregnant and that she had been criminally assaulted before she died. Besides

Registrations Lag Reported for Six County Precincts

Those not registered for voting will not be able to vote in the November general election, Board of Elections officials stress as one day remains for registration.

Registration before voting is now required of residents of the city of Marion, Marion Township, Pleasant Township, and six other rural voting districts.

Residents of Marion, Marion Township and Pleasant Township may register Wednesday in the board's office on the ground floor of the courthouse from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m., 1 to 4:30 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m.

Time schedule for registration by residents of the six outlying areas is 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and 4 to 9 p.m.

LaRue residents can register at the Fire Department.

Residents of Prospect, Prospect Township, Richland Township, and Big Island Township can register at their respective township halls.

As of Saturday, only 811 persons had registered in the six rural districts in which an estimated 2,200 persons eligible to vote reside.

Election board officials are urging residents of these districts to save a trip to Marion later by taking advantage of these registration offices now. Registration now will enable voters to vote in the May primary election as well as the November general election.

20 Americans Refused Repatriation, Reds Say

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Communists said today at least 20 Americans, and Britons and more than 300 Koreans refused repatriation in the big Korean prisoner exchange. They are scheduled to be turned over Thursday to Indian custodial troops.

A Red correspondent, Wilfred Burchett of the Paris L'Humanite, unofficially put the number at 23 Americans, one Briton and 335 South Koreans. Burchett said they are being held in an unguarded camp at Kaesong.

By terms of the armistice, reluctant POWs will be held 90 days in the demilitarized zone while interviewers try to persuade them to change their minds about going home.

Answering a U. N. Command request for a breakdown by nationality of captives they claim refused repatriation, the Reds reported to a joint secretariat session of the Military Armistice Commission that "more than 300 are Koreans. Over 20 are non-Koreans, of which all are American except one British."

Although in round numbers, this report by Ju Yon, North Korean representative, was the most detailed breakdown of unrepatriated allied POWs the Reds so far have provided.

Prompts Crusade

British Menus as Confusing as Food

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Count that day lost whose low descending sun sees no old crusade abandoned—or no new crusade begun.

We live in crusading times. No matter what a fellow sets out to do today it ends up as a crusade. Yes, whether he's simply seeking world peace, merely demanding a return to the gold standard, just trying to save the whooping crane, or seriously looking for a place to park his car.

That's what is so interesting about Sir Alexander H. Maxwell's crusade. With typical English understatement, Sir Alexander, chairman of the British Travel and Holidays Assn, doesn't even call his program a crusade at all.

But his goal is to do something about British restaurant cooking—and to millions of world tourists that sounds like one of the most worthwhile crusades of history.

Where Sir Alexander's crusade falls flat is that he doesn't want to do much about changing English cooking. He just wants it called by its right name. Specifically, he wants Britain's restaurant menus printed in English instead of in French.

As it is now, he hints, neither the waiter nor the customer know what the menu says.

He feels the English-speaking tourists get an inferiority complex from the menus, and that is "very bad for the digestion."

Certainly Sir Alexander's intentions are kindly, patriotic and wholesome. But he is risking the launching of a mighty tempest from a small tea pot.

A British restaurant menu printed in French lends a subtle air of mystery to the meal. The average tourist tastes it, looks again at the menu, and is immediately confused. He doesn't know whether to file suit against Parliament or the French prime minister. He's unsure who is to blame.

It isn't the French terms on the menu card that prove bad for his digestion. It's what is put upon his plate. "Surely," his stomach objects, "this isn't food?"

If all the menu cards in London were printed in English, it might set back Anglo-American relations a generation. Particularly with tourists visiting the city for the first time.

When a waiter brought a dish, such a tourist would say, "Look, I asked for roast beef and potatoes like it says on the menu. I don't know what that stuff is, but take it back and bring me what I ordered."

"But, sir, this is roast beef and potatoes."

"I may be from out of town," says the tourist, "but I still can see. Gimme the manager, Bud."

And the battle is on!

The difficulty is that no amateur student of English cooking can really recognize a dish at first sight, and sometimes even advanced students are fooled. And tasting it only puzzles you more.

The English really know how to cook with gas on all four burners, but they don't know how to turn the gass off. They seem to use it to take the place of central heating. The first principle of English cooking is to keep the food on the stove until all its identifying characteristics have been removed—and the room is warm. Then drain off the top layer of water and serve.

Thre is no other known principle to English cooking.

The nation that has survived this culinary technique is certainly one of the world's hardiest breeds. But the average tourist has been through no such long test of stamina. He is just wistfully yearning for food that looks like food—not the Tower of London, collapsed in a watery gravy.

Equinox Arrives, Gales Sweep Churning Atlantic

LONDON (AP)—Gales up to 80 miles an hour kept the eastern Atlantic boiling today and spread a trail of damage across the British Isles.

Homebound American tourists aboard the liner Ile de France saw a thrill-packed rescue of 24 seamen from the stricken 6,323-ton Liberian freighter Greenville. One man was lost and the body of another was left aboard the sinking ship.

In British waters, a lifeboat plucked seven men to safety from a sinking lightship. And a one-legged yachtsman swam four miles to safety, pushing his artificial leg before him on a mattress.

The Ile de France, bound for New York, reported she had to issue an "abandon ship or we leave you" ultimatum to the skipper of the Liberian freighter 700 miles off the West Coast of England.

Radio messages to the Coast Guard built up this picture of the rescue:

The Greenville lay practically on her side, wallowing out of control in waves 400 feet high.

Her lifeboats were smashed and her superstructure crushed.

Despite angry protests from his crew, the captain at first refused to abandon ship.

Then came the ultimatum from the Ile de France.

Volunteers from the liner's crew manned lifeboats to ferry the Greenville men to safety. One of the latter slipped as he was being hauled aboard and disappeared in the swirling seas.

The liner's doctors rushed the 24 survivors to the Ile's infirmary. Three were injured.

The Greenville, the French ship reported, looked certain to sink within hours. Still lashed to her wheel was the body of an officer killed Sunday in trying to repair the steering gear.

The liner was the waterlogged lightship of St. Gowans Head, in southern Wales at the entrance to the Bristol Channel. Her light, warning against a sandbank, still glared into the night as a lifeboat rescued her seven exhausted crewmen.

The oddest survivor story came from 31-year-old Douglas Presland, whose 18-foot sloop "Sweet Witch" capsized in the Thames Estuary.

Presland lost a leg as a wartime bomber pilot. This was his tale:

"I take the leg off when I'm sailing because it gets in the way. When the boat went over, I got an air mattress from the locker and tied the leg to it. Then I started to swim for shore.

"It took three hours. Next I had to drag the mattress over a mile of mud flats. After the mud was another mile of saltings (tide-flooded lands). I tried putting the leg on but it kept coming off. So I just kept crawling."

The big blow troubled big and little ships alike.

The giant liner United States, due in Le Havre today, reported one seaman with a broken leg and many bruise cases among her 1,500 passengers.

The gale kept the Queen Elizabeth at anchor of the Isle of Wight all night. During the morning the winds lessened and the 83,000-tonner docked at Southampton with 973 passengers.

To the south, on the channel island of Guernsey, a sudden gust of wind blew a two-engine airliner into a hedge as it was landing. The wheels and part of the undercarriage were smashed and the plane dug its nose into the ground, but the 14 passengers and crew walked out unhurt.

The 99-ton French trawler Anne Gaston was reported aground off the Irish coast. She reported one crewman was washed overboard.

Inland, the winds tore away hundreds of British roofs and blew a five-ton truck off a South Wales mountainside, killing the driver.

Weathermen said the storms had started out as hurricane Edna, which hit Bermuda late last week. They predicted the gales would let up tomorrow.

During the eruption of Mt. Katmai Alaska, in 1912, so great was the fall of dust, or ash, that for two days and three nights the town of Kodiak was in almost complete darkness.

REPORTS TWINS GAINING. Dr. L. L. Weismiller, director of the New Orleans Foundation Hospital, relaxes with a pipe as he tells reporters that Carolyn Anne and Catherine Anne Mouton, Louisiana's Siamese twins, are "doing well" after their history-making separation operation. At right are the happy parents, Mayor and Mrs. Aston Mouton, of Lafayette, La. The eight surgeons who took part are waiting for the babies to regain their strength before further surgery.

TRAIL TRAILER

ALTON, Ky. (UP) — Authorities are looking for the thief who drove off with Mrs. Rollie Woods' house trailer because she was a "good neighbor." Mrs. Woods let a stranger borrow the trailer after he told her he lived just down the road and mentioned the name of another "neighbor" whom Mrs. Woods knew.

SMALL TROUBLES

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—John Henry Chatman, 35, was fined $2 and costs here for breach of the peace. However, Chatman told the court: "It wasn't exactly trouble. It was just that a man got after me with a knife.

National Singing Chapters May Be Formed in Marion

An attempt to organize a Marion chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America is being made by Walter Mathiot of 358 Brightwood Dr.

Mathiot, temporary chairman of the proposed chapter, has mailed letters to persons he thought would be interested in the project. In those letters, he invited the persons to attend a "ways and means" meeting in the near future, probably early next month.

Mathiot explained the purpose of the group was fourfold: to keep barbershop quartet singing in its rightful place as a traditional form of American folk music, to give every member an opportunity to sing in a permanently organized quartet and chorus and to encourage and assist the forming of as many good quartets as possible from among the members, to promote the best possible chorus singing of songs arranged in barbershop style, and to foster maximum participation of SPEBSQSA units in worthwhile community, state and national projects.

He went on to say that anyone he might have missed with his letters and who is interested in joining the new group can contact him at his home.

They're all talking "best deal in town"

BUT WHO'S GOT IT?

Are you really sure that the car dealer who gives you "the best deal in town" really gives you the best BUY in town?

As you well know, the best BUYS are based on value.

Because value lasts longer than any other quality—and, in automobiles, that means longer motoring pleasure, greater safety, lower upkeep, and a better trade-in allowance later on.

"The Buy of the Year!"

The new Packard CLIPPER has made news all year long as "the buy of the year." Way back last winter, the "in-siders"—men of recognized automotive experience and instinct—tagged the CLIPPER as the car of the year in the medium-price field. A real, old-time PACKARD value.

You know very well that you never bought an automobile right off the printed page. You bought it ONLY after a demonstration when features either come to life or amount to nothing.

So we urge you: before you take that "best deal in town" . . . take a demonstration in the new Packard CLIPPER and value-check the features with which we challenge all other cars!

We challenge them all on a value check of the following points

Modern contour styling. Check it for greater all-around visibility, wider doors, more room, more luggage capacity.

Famous Packard-built engine.

Famous Packard ride—"Rides like a Packard" is the highest compliment you can pay any car.

Famous Packard Ultramatic†, designed and built by Packard for Packard CLIPPER—the smoothest power shifting of all—no whish, no whirrrr, no jerk, no jump.

Famous Packard-built power brakes† and power steering†.

Famous Packard CLIPPER back-saver seats.

County Church Women Hear Talk by Eyster

Council Holds First Meeting of Fall at Epworth Methodist

For the first fall meeting of the Marion County Council of Church Women Wednesday at Central Christian Church, Rev Walter C Eyster of Epworth Methodist Church was guest speaker Women of the host church provided the opening devotional service, and entertained with a fellowship coffee hour. During business, Mrs Fred Dutt, president, announced chairman appointments.

"Good—in Relation to What" was the subject for Rev. Eyster's address During devotions, Mrs Madge Curl presided at the organ. Mrs. Edwin Merrell welcomed the group and introduced Mrs. H. J. Hartsell, devotional leader. Special music was by Mrs. Curl and by Mrs. Avis Clark and Mrs Sharon Barnhart who sang.

Issues Challenge

Rev. Eyster's challenge to the women called for awareness of a spiritual need, an "inside emptiness" which each individual must fill with the power of God through prayer to overcome the fears, anxieties, and worries which face those who have depended only on material things to solve their problems.

"Now is the time to act," he said. "Wake up, or blow up. With America, it's God or destruction." He pointed to the recent "Kinsey Report" as showing the "sickness of the secular age"

"With the church woman herself reactivated with spiritual power," he emphasized, "she can become an invader of the secular world to effectively solve the problems of the church and of society." Opportunities calling urgently for attention of church women, working from strong individual church roots, he listed as helping newcomers to the community to get settled with wholesome interests and a church home; providing pre-marital training for young people and encouraging better Christian home background for pre-school age children, working to eliminate causes of delinquensy, and promotion of missionary endeavor.

Chairmen Named

Appointed by Mrs Dutt as chairman were Mrs. Leo Keller, literature; Mrs. H. M Brewer, radio; Mrs. Oscar Cross, Religion in American Life, Mrs. Clark Fouts and Mrs. H J. Klinefelter, social relations; Mrs. Darrell Vermilion and Mrs. George Leedom, world missions; Mrs. R C. Alexander, world relations; and Mrs. Clifford Bartlett, Week-day Religious Education, and Mrs. Keller as assistant treasurer and Mrs. Pearl Crall as assistant secretary. Mrs. W E. Miley announced a workshop meeting of the United Council of Church Women of Ohio to be held Oct. 1 at Howard Methodist Church on Cherry St. in Findlay Following the talk by Rev Eyster, prayer was by Mrs. Edith Bush.

Mrs. Marvin Brown was hospitality chairman, and Mrs. Ashley Booth and Mrs. Crall were ushers. The social hour was in charge of Mrs. Cross, Mrs. Nellie Kline, Mrs Paul Emery, Mrs. Ruth Lundquist, Mrs. Crall, and Mrs. James Cunningham.

THEIR PLANS ARE UNCERTAIN. Rita Hayworth and Dick Haymes take Rita's two children for a walk, not quite sure now when they will be able to marry. Haymes' wife, Nora, changed her mind about signing the waiver which would permit him to get a Nevada divorce next week and marry Miss Hayworth immediately afterwards, and she isn't sure now, when or if The girls, walking with the pair at Las Vegas, Nev, are Yasmine, 3, and Rebecca, 8.

Nixon Reports He Heard Beria Story About 30 Days Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several government investigative agencies were described as trying to run down today the truth or falsity of a story that Lovrenty Beria, former police boss of the U.S.S.R., has escaped from Russia and is seeking asylum in America

Vice President Nixon said in New York yesterday that such a report had come to his attention about 30 days ago "and is in the hands of the proper investigative organizations" He added he does not know whether the story is true

There was no comment from the State Department or the other groups Nixon named — the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency. Officials in the executive branch of the government indicated great skepticism.

The seemingly far-fetched story that Beria, who was denounced as a traitor in July had escaped first leaked out over the weekend from a Senate source who declined to be named.

Judge Dismisses Canton Lawsuit

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A lawsuit brought by a woman member of City Council against a former councilman has been thrown out of court by Common Pleas Judge Paul G Weber

But attorneys for Mrs. Esther Archer, a Democrat who represents the Fourth Ward, said they would appeal the case to the Fifth District Court

She had sued Fred Ca Chat for $102,475, charging malicious prosecution A Republican, he formerly represented the First Ward

Mrs. Archer contended Ca Chat instigated a blackmail charge against her two years ago. She was acquitted.

As the lawsuit was brought to trial yesterday, and a jury seated, Ca Chat's attorneys filed a motion for a judgment on the pleadings Judge Weber upheld the motion, ruling the original petition failed to contain any facts "to support any element of malicious prosecution"

Ike Faces Huge Task

Time for Decision Near On Major U.S. Problems

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGON (AP) — President Eisenhower has returned from vacation to face one of the most serious years of his life. Budget, deficit, taxes, prosperity, defense, trade, Korea, dealing with the Russians. All are on his doorstep, waiting.

For 1953 was a period of getting ready for 1954, and later. In his Boston speech last night the President said frankly the record of his administration has been too short to be "anything like definitive." More than just the record of his administration and party is at stake next year.

For one thing, the budget. He wants to wipe out the federal deficit, the gap between government income and spending. All over Washington these days officials are busy preparing the budget Eisenhower will hand Congress in January.

He cut government expenses in 1953. He says he wants to cut them more in 1954. The biggest expense, and therefore the juiciest target for cutting, is in national defense. But in 1953 the Russians claimed to have produced the hydrogen bomb.

Eisenhower must decide whether national safety can stand any further cuts in defense. A country which talks tough, as this one has been, while reducing money on armaments, will hardly impress the Russians or assure American Allies.

In 1954, through taxes which will end automatically or be reduced automatically, the government faces a loss of billions of dollars. Heavy cuts in expenses will be necessary to overcome that loss unless, perhaps, the administration can find a new kind of tax, maybe a sales tax, to make up the lost revenue.

But 1954 is an election year—for all 435 House seats and one third of the Senate — and any administration request for a new tax might be enough to split the Republican party, some of whose members were bitter in 1953 when Eisenhower asked extension of the excess profits tax.

A bad business recesion in 1954 would knock the administration's plans for reduced savings out the window. Eisenhower would have to think of remedies fast, even though they meant spending a lot of government money to start the prosperity wheels again.

A bad recession here would affect more than American spending. American Allies would feel it. Russia would have a chance to make more capital, through dissatisfaction of the people in the Allied countries, than at any time since World War II.

Meanwhile Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will have to make decisions on dealing with the Communists in the Korean Peace Conference, provided the Communists even let the conference begin. No one here talks optimistically about such a conference solving the Korean case.

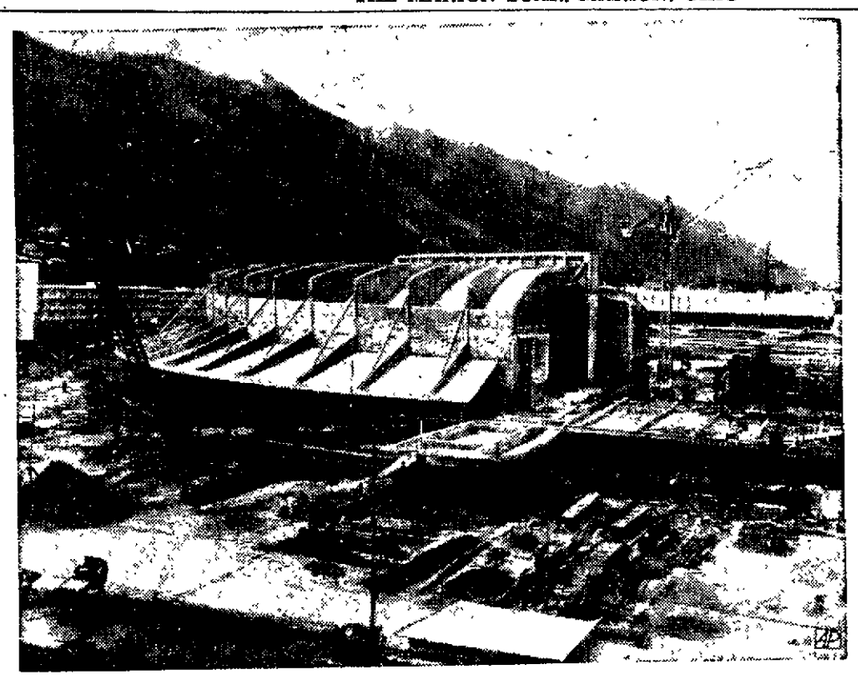
A conference stalemate, would mean this country must keep troops in Korea indefinitely, and on the alert against a new attack. At the same time Eisenhower will have his hands full seeing that South Korean President Syngman Rhee doesn't upset the apple-cart by renewing the war himself.

Renewed war there might spread much further than Korea.

Since the Russians have made faster progress in hydrogen bomb development than was predicted here, Eisenhower has a choice: Stand firm against the Communists until they show by deeds they want peace, or try to work out a disarmament agreement with them.

If Eisenhower took the latter course it would mean a shift from the policy statement he laid down last April and which Dulles repeated at the United Nations last week.

In addition, since the administration evidently is planning to cut out, or drastically reduce, foreign aid, it must make decisions on helping the Europeans with freer trade policies, or letting them do the best they can with the present policy. Trade is tied in tightly with their prosperity and, so, their defensive ability.



VENEZUELA PREPARES FOR VISITORS. Auditorium being built at University City, Caracas, will house 10th Pan American Conference of American nations in March 1954.

Man's Bar Complete But Has No Customers

FLINT, Mich. (UP)—Rudy Luethold owns a bar offering 300 varieties of liquor—but it's never had a customer.

Luethold, a bartender at the Hotel Durant, has a miniature bar he built as a backdrop for his collection of more than 300 miniature liquor and beer bottles.

During a year of work, he made the bar complete in every detail. The taps flow beer and running water and cooling cabinets actually are refrigerated.

The bar itself is 13 inches high, six inches deep and six feet long. There are twelve stolls built of chrome with foam rubber cushions, mirrors, a cash register and built-in cabinets to hold the tiny bottles. Indirect lighting comes from small bulbs of blue, green, red, white and amber.

The bar even has a tiny deer's head for decoration.

FLEE HONOR CAMP

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Two youths of 19, under reformatory sentences for breaking and entering, walked away from the Sandusky Honor Camp last night, wearing their prison garb. Camp officials said they were Raymond Glenn Nutting of Goffaway, W. Va., sentenced from Summit County, and Jack Franklin Thomas of Chesapeake, sentenced from Lawrence County.

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Willie S. Delong, 30, of near London, accidentally shot and killed himself yesterday while hunting squirrels on a nearby farm.

Master Traffic Plan Explained To Township Clerks, Trustees

John V. Ruth, chairman of the Marion Traffic Survey and Grade Crossing Elimination committee, was a speaker at the third quarter meeting of the Marion County Township Trustees and Clerks Association Saturday evening in the Salt Rock-Morral fire house at Morral.

He explained the traffic problem confronting the city and said that a "master plan" for overall correction was necessary before federal or state funds could be secured..

The association went on record as endorsing the traffic survey as outlined by the committee.

Also speaking to the group was Kenneth A. Robinson, state representative from Marion County, who gave a report on sessions of the state legislature. He explained some of the problems encountered during the revision of the Ohio General Code, which contained more than six million words in six thousand pages.

Robinson also said that a state survey made by the Ohio Planning Commission revealed that seven billion dollars would be needed to put Ohio highways and farm-to-market roads in modern condition.

W. E. Bosserman, examiner from the office of State Auditor James A. Rhodes, gave a humorous talk on "Don't let trouble ahead bother you." He reminded his audience that American colonists revolted against "taxation without representation," and said "they should see what we are paying now, with representation."

Joseph A. Vogel of Scott Township, president, presided over the business session. Preceding it, a ham supper was served to 132 county and township officials and guests by members of Tymochtee Grange. Hosts for the meeting were officials of Salt Rock, Big Island, Grand, Montgomery and Bowling Green Townships.

Entertainment during the social hour consisted of accordion solos by Miss Ruth Bosley of Salt Rock Township; vocal numbers by Ned Hudnell, accompanied by Mrs. Shirley Shuster, of Grand Township; a piano duet by Marie Jane and Anita Coon of Big Island Township; and a saxophone and clarinet duet by Misses Janet and Janice Boblenz of Montgomery and Bowling Green Township, accompanied by Miss Ann Murphy.

A Record To Look At

Another thing President Eisenhower might do well to think about since he was not elected to be a tub-thumper but the chief executive is this:

Controversy is the meat and potatoes of the political trade — for politicians. Unless they can start an argument, they're helpless.

President Eisenhower has upward of half a dozen sound reasons for not letting himself or his administration be baited into arguing with Harry Truman or Adlai Stevenson.

Both of them are past masters of partisanship. They put on an act in the 1952 campaign that never has been outdone for sheer mastery of the art of stirring up controversies. There was only one thing wrong with it.

The public, sick and tired of controversies as a substitute for good government, turned thumbs down. Eisenhower was elected—not Truman, not Stevenson, not Harry Vaughan and not Lamarr Caudle.

Dwight Eisenhower was elected to administer government, not to run a political circus. It will be a mistake for him to let himself be drawn into a thing he does not understand and is not expected to understand.

When the time comes to pass on what happened after January 1953, voters will look at facts, not fulminations. President Eisenhower should give all his attention to the record his administration is making and let Messrs. Stevenson and Truman talk to their hearts' content.

They have nothing else to do. He has something else to do.

Less Than Imagination

The wobbly rumor of Lavrenti Beria's escape from Russia with an offer to tell suitable authority in the United States everything he knows is useful, even if it can't be confirmed.

It is useful because it is credible. Something did happen to this highly placed official. Either he knew his number was up and escaped before his enemies could dispose of him, or he was able to escape after they had taken away his liberty. The episode tells a great deal about political insecurity under the Communist dictatorship.

This sort of thing can happen in the Soviet Union — this savagery among the ruling politicians. Whether or not Stalin had the privilege of an unassisted death, it is unlikely any of the men who survived his long regime of rule by assassination will live their natural lives.

Imagination has produced a conception of the modern Russian state which stresses its military strength and political terrorism. It is the kind of picture that Communist propagandists would paint if they could do the job themselves.

The reality is less than the figment of imagination. The now - famous "iron curtain" never was designed to keep the world from learning how strong the Soviet Union is but how weak it is — weak enough to give genuine substance to the threat of any former official who might escape and be willing to talk.

His revelations could be a mortal blow.

The Next Secretary of Labor

Speculation about Martin's Durkin's successor as secretary of labor still runs strongly to union executives. The idea has taken root that these professional leaders of organized labor have an inside track.

If the same idea were applied throughout the cabinet, the postmaster general would have to be a postman, the secretary of defense would have to be a policeman and the secretary of agriculture would have to be a farmer.

Even from a political viewpoint, there is no reason why the secretary of labor should be a union executive. Union members are a minority of the working people in the United States. Politically, it has been demonstrated time after time that they cannot be delivered at the polls by their leaders.

On the contrary, being typical Americans, they frequently resent the implication that their political independence has been jeopardized by their union membership and rebuke their leadership to prove the point.

The next secretary of labor should look after the interests of all Americans who work for a living. The Department of Labor does not belong to any private organization.

Straits and Channels Swum

Florence Chadwick says her record-breaking swim across the Straits of Gibraltar last Sunday made her the "happiest girl in the world."

It did something for the rest of us too. It bolstered our faith in the credo that woman can do anything they really try to do.

Miss Chadwick now has swum the English Channel both ways. She has swum the Straits of Gibraltar. If there are any more straits or channels to be swum, she can swim them.

She is a credit to her sex. Other members of the sex who will make the mistake by saying they cannot fire the furnace, shovel snow, lift groceries out of the back seat of the car, or handle the luggage because it is too heavy for them will be reminded from time to time of Florence Chadwick.

Women can do anything they really try to do. The sex that points with pride to Miss Chadwick should be too proud to ask for a helping hand from any frail and inadequate male person.

Pride in Americanism

By David Lawrence

Nixon, Bob Hope Set Refreshing Examples

Bob Hope, the comedian, talked back to a British audience the other day when heckled about "McCarthyism" and said bluntly that the Wisconsin senator was doing a worth-while work in drawing attention to the Communist menace.

He added that he thought Sen. McCarthy was "right 99 per cent of the time."

Now perhaps that's a little high as percentages go among those who discuss controversial topics—for nobody is right 99 per cent of the time, not even a Washington correspondent. But it is refreshing to find one American of prominence traveling abroad who had the temerity to talk back and give the Europeans some facts.

It would have been very helpful if Adlai Stevenson, the former presidential candidate, had revealed in his speech last week what answer he had made to those abroad with whom he discussed the subject.

He says "McCarthy" is "now a world-wide word" and that as a result of "inquisitions' and "book burning" he feels that "the bright vision of the land of the free" in Europe and Asia has now become "obscured."

There would seem to be great need of attention by the "Voice of America" to an exposition of the truth in areas where insidious misrepresentation of what is happening in America has been carried on by the Communist press and by certain non-Communist newspapers abroad which are trying to discredit American foreign policy generally.

The press abroad, which receives wire reports from the United States, can hardly be blamed if the basic information of some of these controversies isn't even transmitted over the big press-association wires of this country.

Take, for example, a speech by Vice President Nixon three weeks ago before the American Legion convention in St. Louis. A year-old comment favorable to President Truman on Korea was picked up and sensationalized but the real news—a discussion of "book burning"—was almost totally ignored by the reporters in the press box at the convention.

One would suppose by any of the customary standards that what a vice president of the United States says in his speeches is news—especially if he discusses "book burning."

What the vice president said that day on the subject has not yet been published in whole or in part by many newspapers because they didn't receive it from the press associations.

The full text of the section of Mr. Nixon's speech of August 31 relating to "book burning"—which incidentally got the biggest round of applause—follows:

"We have heard a lot of talk about 'book burning' during the past few months. A great editorial controversy has been raging on the subject and, under the circumstances, I think it would be well to put some of the issues in perspective.

"The controversy began, as you will recall, over the books which are in the libraries of our Foreign Information Service abroad. I think all of us will agree that the taxpayers of the United States should not have to pay for the dissemination of Communist propaganda in special-purpose libraries set up abroad for the express purpose of presenting the American position in its best light.

"But there has unfortunately been a tendency for the controversy to spill over into a second field which should not be confused with the first. What about public libraries in the United States? Should they contain books advocating the Communist idea written by Marx, Lenin, Stalin and other Communist authors?

"In this connection it is well to recognize at the outset that no one in authority in the administration, or in the House or in the Senate, has ever suggested that the public libraries in the United States should not have books by Communist authors on their shelves."

How many Americans have been told the very opposite of that last statement—and how many American politicians have falsely accused Sen. McCarthy of advocating that very thing?

These statements have been widely reprinted in the European press. Yet when on the authority of the vice president a lie was nailed, it never got quoted in the press abroad because it was not fully covered by our own press.

Continuing Mr. Nixon's speech:

"I think we will all agree that the American people should know more, rather than less, about the Communist idea. If we are going to combat the idea effectively it is necessary for us to read what the Communists and the fellow travelers write concerning that idea.

"We must all recognize that the right to advocate unpopular ideas is part of our American tradition. On the other hand, we must distinguish participation in the Communist conspiracy from advocacy of the Communist idea.

"We should also recognize that as Americans we have the right and the duty both to expose the Communist idea for what it is and to advocate our own America idea in opposition to it.

"It is our belief that the best way to combat a fallacious idea is through exposure and not suppression. We are convinced that if the two ideas which appeal to the people of the world today—communism on the one side, freedom and justice on the other—come together in the open market place of public discussion there cannot be any question as to the outcome."

The foregoing quotation is the American creed. It is true liberalism.

Private Hunches

By TRUMAN TWILL

The big-time football coaches who have been sniveling over the passing of the platoon system will have learned by the end of this season that the game they took away from the players has been taken away from them by the spectators, who now will be able to enjoy football again.

The irony of entertainment via electronics is that the only TV entertainers who will survive the drain on their talent are the ones who can afford to limit the number of their appearances, like Jack Benny.

The bulk of the spirituous liquors and tobacco consumed in this country can be chalked off to mass psychology, because most consumers would prefer neither to drink nor smoke if they weren't afraid of being called "different."

Political issues wear out just like anything else, as witness the passing of federalism, trust-busting, free silver and prohibition. Some issues now lively will be dead as dodoes by Happy New Year and some politicians will be caught short.

Apropos of politics, Harry Truman, having worn out his welcome with voters, is doing a bang-up job of wearing it out with members of his own party who, unlike Mr. Truman, have political futures ahead of them.

Those stupid worms that forecast a severe winter this time last year never will be taken seriously again, having been shown up as utterly unreliable.

The ironic climax to the upside-down world of Communism is the large number of Reds now making lush livings lecturing to Americans — the goofiest arrangement since lecture listeners paid through the nose to ear Von Luckner tell how he tried to destroy the United States with U-boat warfare in World War I.

A schoolteacher's success or failure are determined within a week after the opening of school by the pupils' unerring sizeup. If successful, the teacher leads and the kids follow. Otherwise, the teacher pushes and the kids resist.

The grimmest struggle in this highly mechanized country is between owners of gadgets which need fixing and artisans who must be persuaded to fix them again and again and again at a price the owners can afford to pay — again and again and again.

Not the least of the things that make the end of summer bearable for most of us is the pleasure of getting rid of all the junk that has to be shuffled around outside and taken in whenever it rains.

This is going to be a white Christmas, with snow up to here on eight-foot Indians — and any worm who predicts to the contrary is no smarter than the long-range weather prophets in Washington, D.C.

Primary Emphasizes Tammany Decadence

By Raymond Moley

A virile politico - social institution like New York's Tammany takes a long time to decline and die, especially when nothing new and vital and growing is there to take its place.

Somehow, it struggles along on bits of legitimate patronage and the nauseous fruits of ignorance, apathy, and corruption.

It seemed from time to time during the past few years that Tammany had become such a bargain as to be picked up on the open market by Frank Costello and associated beneficiaries of gambling.

At any rate, William O'Dwyer, when mayor of New York, was in part mortgaged to such interests.

The decline of the Democratic organization throughout the five boroughs was dramatically shown in a primary last week, held on the same day when the embattled but bedraggled hosts of the party men were breathing fire in Chicago. Apathy prevailed everywhere in New York.

The prize was the office of mayor, which has tremendous power and spoils a prize which should energize the most benumbed and passionless of politicians. But in the aggregate, the associated district leaders on both sides of the primary contest were able to bring to the polls only one of every four registered Democrats.

The rivals were Mayor Impellitteri, who was supported by the leaders of three of the boroughs—Kings, Queens, and Richmond — and Robert Wagner, Jr., who was supported by the leaders of Manhattan and the Bronx.

Actively thumping their drumlets for the son of the late Sen. Wagner were Sen. Lehman, Averell Harriman and FDR, Jr.

James A. Farley supported Impellitteri, thus seeking to regain primacy in the state's Democratic organization.

This was interpreted as a conservative reaction against New Dealism. But no one took that very seriously.

Voters sick of the financial deficiencies of the city, of dirty streets, dope - peddling, traffic congestion and bad transportation generally simply ignored the primaries.

The weakness of district leaders is vividly shown in the returns. Impellitteri had 60 per cent of the leaders, but they were able to get to the polls only 181,295 votes.

Any such weakness in summoning the docile to a primary in the puissant Charles F. Murphy's day would have resulted in rolling heads.

Take a few isolated examples. In a teeming district in Harlem, where Republicans are scarce as two - headed infants, there were only 3,365 Democrats who cared to vote. In 1952, some 14,628 Democrats voted.

In a jam-packed district adjoining, largely Puerto Rican, only 5,038 Democrats voted this time. In 1952, in that district, 17,415 voted.

The verdict must be that the Democratic leadership is lamentably weak, that voters are no longer following any leaders, and that the mass of Democrats are ashamed of their own city government.

Against Wagner, there will run Harold Riegelman, an able and respected Republican; Rudolph Halley, a Liberal who is now president of the Council; and a candidate of the Marcantonio American Labor party.

Both Riegelman and Halley seem to have a chance to defeat Wagner, for once more Tammany seems to be on the verge of defeat.

From Our Readers

To The Star:

In this evening's Star (Sept. 18) I read with interest your report of my arrest and the story around it. I know that in all fairness you will print my side of the story.

On the evening of Wednesday, Sept. 16, my wife and I drove up to the front of the Fahey Bank, headed south. I was at the wheel at the time; I did double park, got out of the car with my motor running and my wife sitting in the front seat to my right; I walked directly across the street to the lobby of the Milner Hotel where I deposited my mail in the mailbox and came directly out to my car, all of which took less than one and one-half minutes.

When I got back to my car, officer Homer Watson was getting out his traffic violation slips and had just folded back the cover when I got to my car. I explained to him that I was just making a delivery at the hotel and asked him to extend me the courtesy that he would give to any truck or individual doing the same thing. However, he stated that he intended giving me a ticket.

I then got into my car, Watson standing all this time at the side of my car just at the rear of the front door and at arm length from the left side of my car and in the middle of the street. He continued to write; I told him where I lived and that if he intended giving me a ticket, to mail it to me and with that, I drove away. The officer definitely was not in front of my car, he certainly did not have to jump to the curb which would have been an impossibility in that he was standing in the middle of the street and certainly impeded traffic if there had been any at the time, which there was not.

The writer has been practicing law in Marion for more than 25 years and I feel that I am entitled to my rights and privileges and certainly know what they are. I did not keep the officer from giving me the ticket and while I still have not received it, he can still give it to me.

To me, most of the strange traffic regulations that have been thrown around Marion lately are ridiculous and senseless and if one did not have the difficulty in parking at the postoffice, this would never have occurred.

J. C. A. Arter
133 N. Main St.

To The Star:

In an editorial on "Death Traps" July 17, first paragraph—you stated in substance that there is no real reason why the refrigerator manufacturers should meet to consider means of rendering unused and abandoned ice boxes, becoming death traps for children, unusable.

I think they should. Eleven deaths in two days, 85 in 1951, indicates that something should be done.

A program of education was instituted a number of years ago against abandoned refrigerators by the safety committee of the Refrigeration Service Engineers Society. The local affiliate, Scioto Chapter, RSES, and a member of the Buckeye State Association, RSES, has been active in this campaign. Members have long ago agreed to remove latches and hinges of death traps, free of charge. The results are disappointing.

There are about 50 million refrigerators in the U. S. Almost 10 per cent of this number, new refrigerators, are sold yearly. Most of these are replacements for older and outmoded smaller units.

In Marion, the potential sale of new refrigerators is about 750, based on national averages. Scrap metal dealers report that they purchased about 190 in the last year. Most of the wooden type have been destroyed by the owners, but where are all the others? Probably in the garage or backyard, a possible death chamber for kids who play hide and seek.

It is reported that 10 states and many cities have passed laws against the possession of such devices.

The value of the defunct ice box is so near nothing that it would not be a hardship on any owner to be compelled to junk or render it harmless as far as children are concerned.

It is the intention of the RSES to press for legislation outlawing these death traps for the very simple reason you state in the remaining paragraphs of your editorial.

We, as well as the manufacturers, are going to do something about this subject in an effort to eliminate all, not some, but all of these death traps.

C. W. Osmun
Delegate of Scioto Chapter, Refrigerator Service Engineers Society.

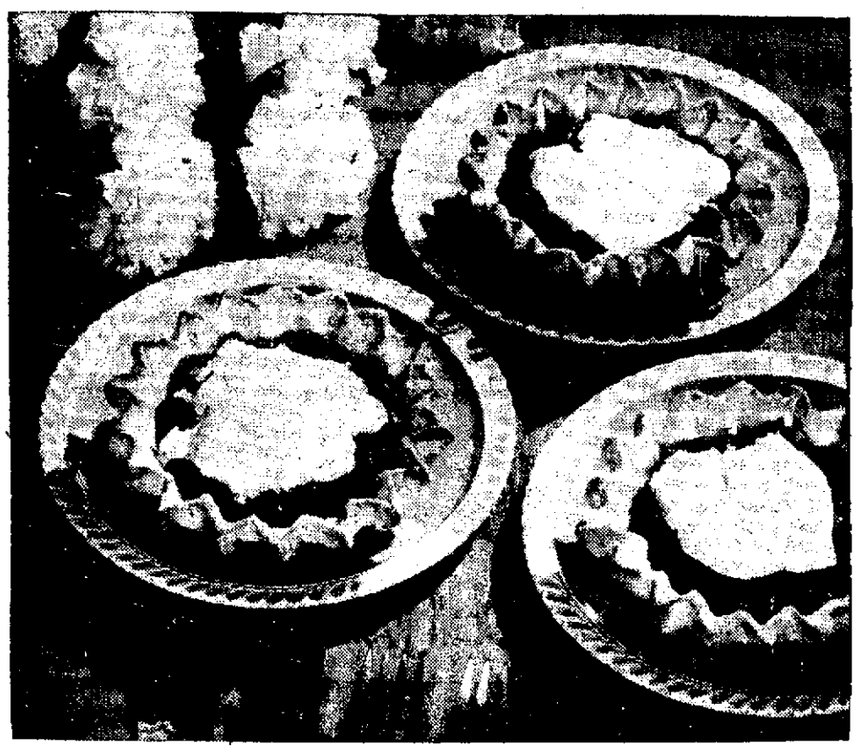
Prune-Cot Tarts Are An Unusual Dessert



This time of year usually indicates a stepped up program of parties. When planning a luncheon or dinner, many find the selection of a dessert difficult. Ice cream, of course, is the favorite all over the country and when you couple the cool, smooth texture of ice cream with a fruit tart, you have a combination that will be popular with all ages.

Most homemakers when they entertain, want a dessert that they can make ahead. Prune-Cot Tarts a la mode need only the addition of the ice cream at serving time. If you would like to use a crumb pastry for the base of the tarts, that is good also. Try this simple but delicious dessert for your next party.

Roll out pastry to ⅛-inch thickness and cut into 5-inch rounds. Then fit rounds over back of 3-inch muffin pans and trim. Flute or crimp edges as desired. Prick with fork and bake, pastry side up, in hot oven, 425 deg. F., for 15 to 18 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool. Remove tart shells from pans. Partly fill each shell with prune-cot filling, top with ice cream and garnish with walnut halves or dates. Serves 10.

Prune-Cot Filling: 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, ½ cup dates, diced (1-3 pkg.) ½ cup apricots, diced, ½ cup seeded raisins, ½ cup cooked, drained prunes, diced, ½ cup chopped walnuts, few grains salt.

Melt butter; combine remaining ingredients and simmer over low heat until thickened. When cool spread in baked tart shells. Makes 2 1-3 cups filling for 10 tarts of size specified.

Freed Crash Victim Darts Down Road Without His Pants

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—R. J. Cross, 64-year-old Muskogee county resident, was stopped by officers as he ran down the highway without trousers.

It was a little unusual because the elderly bricklayer had just been pried loose from his car after laying upside down 12 hours partially submerged in water.

The auto had jumped an embankment on U.S. Highway 69, fallen 35 feet into the river, and overturned. A trailer it was pulling fell on top of the car.

A farmer heard Cross' tapping the following morning and notified officers who rescued him. When the wreckers pried open the door and freed Cross he jumped out and darted down the highway yelling, "I'm all right."

He was caught and taken to a hospital suffering from shock and exposure but was otherwise in good condition.

MACHINE AGE PROGRESS

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — Chopped cabbage, formerly packed by hand, can now be turned out at the rate of 120 cans a minute with a new machine developed by the Pfaudler Co. here. A machine generally used for cream soups and semi-liquids has been converted to handle chopped cabbage.

North Carolina Police Hunt Lost Cannon Balls

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Fayetteville police got a new order today: Look for a dozen stolen Confederate cannon balls.

The big black metal spheres — each about the size of a bowling ball — were taken from the foot of a Confederate monument near mid-town. Originally they were centered together in the form of a pyramid. But recently the monument was moved, and when the balls were re-located, no cement was used. They disappeared over a period of several months by singles and pairs.

DELAYED BLAST

WESTPORT, Conn. (UP)—Vandals were blamed for touching off dynamite in a Revolutionary War cannon that hadn't been fired since the British landed in 1777.

Conservation Officials Tour 7 County Farms

Supervisors from the Marion County Soil Conservation Service toured seven farms in Claridon Township this afternoon to review the conservation work being done on the farms.

Neighborhood group leaders and several agricultural groups in the county were invited to make the trip. The group was scheduled to meet at Claridon School at 1 p. m. and tour the farms of Alfred Laucher, Roy F. Smith, Harvey Eichorn, Ivan Beckel, Merle Ruehrmund, John E. Ruth, and Lewis Louderbeck.

While traveling between the farms, leaders in the group plan to stop along the road to demonstrate the results of poor land usage and the lack of conservation practices.

CIGAR MAKER QUITS

MARYSVILLE, Kan. (UP)—One of Kansas' last cigar makers has decided to call it quits after almost 60 years of rolling hand-made stogies. J. H. Wiedemeyer, 75, decided to sell out his business, which his father started 71 years ago. He has made few cigars in recent years, switching to chewing tobacco.

Migratory Birds Have Tough Time In Gale, 300 Killed

NEW YORK (AP)—An early morning haze plus a gale wind sent 300 migratory birds crashing to death today against the Empire State Bldg.

About a thousand other feathery migrants flying over at the same time missed the haze-shrouded upper floors of the building, flocked safely to the street and perched on building terraces Their species was not determined.

A similar combination of weather conditions killed a large number of birds four years ago.

One other bird soloed into the City's News. A strange - looking specimen with a two-foot wingspread and rapier-thin beak flew into a liquor shop and menacingly circled a stack of bottles of Scotch whisky.

Long and Short of It

Battles Being Waged in London Over Skirt Lengths, Hair Styles

By JEAN WISEMAN
North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON — Several long-and short battles are being waged — over daytime hemlines, evening gowns and hair styles. Compromise will probably set in, but, meanwhile, models here are wearing their skirts slightly longer.

Edward Rayne, shoemaker to the queen, is showing new shoe silhouettes intended to partner the shorter skirt. His latest ideas include Salome sandals with fine ankle straps and platform soles —a spindly 3½ -inch heel, curving inward, called the "Jordan"—a new short and tapered pointed toe —contrasts of fabric and color in shoes called "two-face" beauties —and much use of opal patent, gunmetal and bronze kids.

In the moderately-priced ranges, store buyers here expect a large demand for full - length dance dresses during the coming season One model that caught my eye had a petal bodice and full dancing skirt It came in the new vivid jewel colors and was not expensive

New knitting leaflets just reaching the stores show the latest reflections of current fashions, and introduce many novelty wools and treatments

Full skirts, pleats, low neck- and figure-molded styles are included in the new knitting which forms "Wool Fair" —the show organized by the International Wool Secretariat

Gossamer fine cocktail, evening and wedding dresses are made of one-ply wool in plain colors or scintillating tinsel effects, at the other end of the knitting scale there are the bulky knitted "barrel" jackets, "fisherman's" jumpers and matching caps.

I give personal recommendation to a brushed double-wool tartan jacket, and to a thick-knit jumper which has a one-sided, moss-stitch scarf draped from one side of the bodice, tying and looping through at the neckline.

Celebrates Fifth Anniversary

Co-Discoverer Feels Cortisone Has Been Misused

PRINCETON, N. J. (NANA), — Nobel Prize winner Dr. Edward C Kendall, co-discoverer of cortisone, believes, on the fifth anniversary of the drug's first use, that it has "suffered from misuse" and that, with proper dosage adjustment, side effects from use of the hormone can be largely eliminated.

He states that during the last five years the drug has more than fulfilled the first enthusiastic expectations for it. Even now, Dr. Kendall says, new and important uses for it are being found.

FORMERLY ON the staff of the Mayo Clinic and now at the James Forrestal Research Center at Princeton University here, Dr. Kendall is continuing his studies into the life-and-death mysteries hidden in the outer shell of the adrenal glands—two tiny, nut-shaped organs located atop the kidneys. It is from this outer shell, or cortex, of the adrenals that the body obtains cortisone, without which life cannot be maintained

It was five years ago Monday that cortisone was first injected into a human being in a scene as significant to medicine as the first atomic explosion at Los Alamos was to physics. As Dr. Kendall describes that event:

"On Sept. 21, 1948, cortisone was administered (by Dr. Philip S. Hench) to a patient who had rheumatoid arthritis. During the preceding five years she had continued to become worse and at the time that cortisone was given she was confined to her bed and endured much pain. Within a week she walked out of the hospital in a gay mood and went on a shopping trip for three hours without aftereffects During the following seven months about 30 more patients were given cortisone. The results were reported on April 20, 1949, and before January, 1950, the word cortisone was given a place in our vocabulary."

WORD THAT A magic substance had been found that could unstiffen the crippled limbs of arthritics spread quickly. Demand for the hormone was immediate and general.

The first company to produce the hormone commercially was Merck & Co., Inc., which utilized cattle bile as a starting material. The drug remained in short supply, however, and research workers throughout the world searched fo new and better methods to manufacture it. In 1951 Schering Corp. entered the field with a simplified chemical production process, which increased many-fold the yield of the drug. A year later the Upjohn Co joined the other two, with a different process involving fermentation.

Cortisone production skyrocketed and within a year its cost decreased materially. Doctors, suddenly handed this powerful new weapon, naturally required time to learn the proper techniques for its administration. Some used much larger quantities of the drug than were necessary, according to Dr. Kendall. Since then, physicians have discovered that many formerly untreatable or fatal diseases can be held in check with much smaller dosages of the drug.

DR. KENDALL cites a study completed at the Mayo Clinic in which a large number of patients were given small dosages of cortisone for many months, controlling or curing their illnesses but causing no side effects Although he considers the drug's biggest use will continue to be in the treatment of arthritis, Dr. Kendall believes that a close second may be in the field of allergies, where extensive research now is under way.

A growing use for cortisone is in the treatment of various eye ills and the hormone has already saved many so afflicted from blindness or impaired vision This month a new drug, cortomyd ophthalmic suspension, a combination of sulfa drug and cortisone, has been made available to doctors and is expected to be an important tool for preservation of sight

OTHER USES for cortisone are in the treatment of Addison's disease, an ailment caused by the inability of the adrenals to manufacture cortisone; rheumatic fever, where it is restoring once doomed children to useful lives; skin diseases, a form of anemia, bursitis, RH incompatibility, and certain types of cancer.

As for the future, Dr. Kendall believes that with more skilled and careful use cortisone will be safely available to an ever-greater number of people with arthritis, allergies, eye diseases and a host of other ailments. He also is confident that important new uses will be discovered for the drug.

Profit Found In Ladybugs By Californian

Makes Living Raising Insects, Which Feed on Soft-Bodied Parasites

OROVILLE, Calif. (UP)—"Ladybug, ladybug, fly away home . . ."

The first line of the child's poem about ladybugs is well known to Paul Harris who makes a living from Hippodamia Convergens, to use the formal name.

Harris operates the Greenbug Control Co which collects and sells ladybugs to agriculturists to combat soft-bodied parasites and injurious insects In the past three years Harris has handled an estimated 405,000 000 of the green, red and spotted little bugs.

The bugs are specialists in eating up such injurious pests as thrips, red spider, mealy bugs, aphids and particularly the pink bollworm. This latter infests cotton fields in some sections and makes Texas, Oklahoma, Florida and Kansas the biggest market for Harris' enterprise.

This makes transportation a problem. Recently Harris sent 39,000,000 ladybugs to Texas to fight the bollworm.

The insects were loaded aboard an airplane late in the day. After a 10-hour layover at San Francisco they proceeded on their way late the next day. The night time flying is necessary because heat activates them too much to make the trip

The bugs are put in their boxes along with lots of pine cones. They quickly crawl into the cones, which keeps them from bunching up too much for their own good. The bugs are "cooled" after they arrive—this keeps them from rushing out of their boxes and flying away, failing to do the job for which they were purchased

The bugs are harvested by Harris and his crew from bushes. In 48 hours they can get a truckland of bugs which are brought back to headquarters and put in cold storage. They can be kept for two months at a temperature just above freezing.

The bugs are sold by the gallon —about 135,000 of them to one gallon. It takes about 30 000 ladybugs to control ore acre of farm land.

Their use is somewhat limited by their appetite Some injurious pests don't interest ladybugs in a gustatory way at all, and sprays used to kill these pests may also kill the ladybugs.

Harris said that the hazards of ladybug-collecting are the weather, rattlesnakes and mosquitoes In the November-to-April season, Harris' men work in pairs in the mountains for mutual protection against mishaps. From June to September the bug men fight mosquitos and rattlesnakes which are found in the same areas as the bugs

Ladybugs carry no diseases, harbor no parasites. Although they fly away after one season, they leave behind larvae which have even a better appetite than the parents.

AP Newsmen Win Awards

Oatis, Noel Receive Press Club Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Associated Press Staffers William Oatis and Frank Noel have received Overseas Press Club honors they won while prisoners of Communists on opposite sides of the world.

The two were on the press club's list of award winners in April, 1952. Oatis then was in a Czechoslovakian prison and Noel was in a Chinese Communist prison camp in Korea.

Oatis and Noel, both recently released, received their awards last night in person during a premiere of the Bing Crosby movie, "Little Boy Lost," at the Rivoli Theater. Proceeds from the premiere will go to the Overseas Press Club's memorial press center fund.

Oatis, AP bureau chief in Prague when he was arrested for what the Czech government called spying, won the $500 George Polk memorial award for "courage, integrity and enterprise above and beyond the call of duty"

Noel, captured while photographing the Korean War, was given an award for the best picture reporting from abroad, judged from its interpretive quality.

By 1975, the Census Bureau predicts we will have 193,000,000 people in this country. We'll be driving 65,000,000 automobiles, about one-third more than jam our highways today.

175 Seek Aid in Period

Family Service Society Reviews 1st Year's Work

Facts and figures indicating that the residents of Marion had been quick to accept the Family Service Society as an integral part of the community were given to more than 120 members and guests at the Society's first annual meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. Doris C. Maxwell, executive secretary of the Society, was high in praise of Marionites for their "gracious reception of an unknown and untried service" which enabled the Society in the last year to help 175 persons in 120 family units.

HELD IN THE Robert A. Taft Junior High School, the meeting was opened with invocation by the Very Rev. William J. Spickerman. Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, president of the Society, welcomed members and guests and briefly told about the background of the formation of the local agency.

In the executive secretary's report, Mrs Maxwell explained that the purpose of the Society is "to provide services which foster development of wholesome family life."

She told the members that she could not illustrate these services by citing actual situations, since the Society's services "are confidential and what is said in the office by clients stays within the four walls."

HOWEVER, SHE SAID she was able to report that of the 175 persons availing themselves of help from the Society in the last year, 60 per cent sought help on marital problems, while 15 per cent were on child-parent relationship problems, and 25 per cent were based on economic, mental and physical illness, and housing problems

In an effort to assist members in gaining understanding of the functions of the Society, a one-act play, "Room for Love," was presented by Mrs Frederick W. Rea, Mrs Richard Morgan, and Robert Haldeman.

Action during the three scenes, which covered a span of several months in the lives of a young couple, depicted one type of service, marital counseling, offered by a Family Service Society agency The play was directed by Harold McCuen of Mansfield.

PRESENT FOR the meeting was John Moff, field representative of the Family Service Association of America, who spoke briefly to the group about the national organization.

He told the members present that their presence at the meeting, expressing their interest in the agency, seemed indicative of the enthusiasm and warmth he has noticed in Marion's reception of the agency. He will be in Marion several days conferring with the agency staff and directors.

Twenty-one directors, to serve seven three-year terms, seven two-year terms, and seven one-year terms, were elected and will begin their terms of office Nov. 1

—:—

THREE-YEAR directors are Rev. Fr. Spickerman, Norman Fogt, Rev. Harrison Ludwig, Dr. Frederick W. Rea, Mrs M. F. Axthelm, Mrs. John Waddell, and James C Sloan.

Two-year directors are Mrs Ashley Booth, Mrs. Mildred Schuetz, Judge E J. Ruzzo, George W. Schertzer, Ellis Oiler, Dr. Robert E. Logsdon, and J. E Oliphant.

One-year directors are E J Kinter, Miss Vivian Hall, Ray W Beverly, Leonard Elliot Mrs Robert W. Fay, Mrs. B N Salzman, and Dr. Robert E. Weimer.

After benediction was pronounced by the Rev Ludwig, the board of directors met for a brief business session Officers will be elected at the November meeting

The local agency was granted a charter by the state in November of 1951 and started functioning the following April with the procurement of Mrs. Maxwell as executive secretary and caseworker. A second caseworker, Mrs Anne L McCuen, was added the first of this month association, said bankers must become "sound money" missionaries throughout the country if financial disturbances calling for government intervention are to be avoided.

TARGETS FOR TOMORROW? Superseding a list accepted, but never released, Feb. 4, 1952, a revised list of 193 probable targets of atomic attack is released by the Civil Defense administration in Washington. The agency asked that all copies of the old list be burned. Seventy 'critical" areas, including Washington, D. C., and big industrial centers, are spotted. The roster of critical targets embraces a population of 67,750,982.

"Your coming here brings to government a great opportunity for cooperative work in the field of soundness of money, its circulation and its use," Eisenhower said

The President said his administration is not one "that thinks it has all the answers, or sits in an ivory tower of lonely isolation giving words or wisdom and orders which everyone must obey.

"We are here not only to do our duty in government but to learn," he said. "Through meetings such as yours we learn a lot."

The 300-plus captives the Communists say refused repatriation would just begin to account for more than 900 Americans and 2,500 other Allied soldiers whose whereabouts the U. N. Command has demanded of the Reds.

U.N.

The U. S. move came as a surprise.

The offer to send a representative to discuss arrangements with the Communists was the first time the United Saltes had indicated willingness to deal directly with Communist China on political and diplomatic matters Except for the military discussions at Panmunjom, the United States had handled such matters through neutral Sweden, which has diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime.

Vishinsky's move to have the Assembly reopen debate on the parley had seemed to face certain defeat even before Lodge made his new proposal.

But no one expected the Communists to give up.

The 15-nation Steering Committee (meets 9 30 a.m. EST) was slated to give almost automatic refusal to list the item on the Assembly's agenda Then fiery Chief Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky was expected to take the Assembly floor at his first opportunity and ask the 60-nation body to over rule the committee.

fused at first to talk freely because of "security reasons."

Deputy Sheriff Robert Martin of Champaign County told newsmen a man who claimed to be Russian flier was in custody in the jail.

State police headquarters in Springfield said the man was carrying identification as a Russian flier.

Capt Robert J. Trimble, provost marshal at nearby Chanute Field hurried to the jail to talk to the man

Then Trimble announced the whole incident was an arrangement between the Sate Police and ment between the State Police and O'Hare Field He said Chanute's only part in the incident was to provide the flier with trarsportation from the field to near the State Police station.

in Boston. Other thousands saw him before he left.

In Springfield, the President told a crowd of about 6,000 at the Eastern States Exposition Coliseum that the American form of government is "threatened by a Godless philosophy," communism.

In Boston, Eisenhower took no direct note of criticism of his administration by former President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952. But he listed what he called the accomplishments of his administration thus far.

He said the record since January is "too short to be anything like definitive."

Others Attack Democrats

While Eisenhower took no direct issue with the Democrats, some of his GOP colleagues at the rally did

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief of the U S mission to the United Nations, referred to Stevenson's contention that the administration is putting things off—is operating a "government by postponement."

Turning to Eisenhower, Lodge said:

"Well Mr. President, you didn't postpone an armistice in Korea. If this is postponement, perhaps we could stand some more of it."

And Sen Aiken (R-Vt), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, hit back at charges by Democrats that the administration has broken its 1952 campaign pledges to the farmers.

"The American farmer will not be fooled by false propaganda," Aiken said

Eisenhower got a tremendous ovation when he entered Boston Garden two hours in advance of his speech. There was another big ovation when he rose to talk and when he concluded He was interrupted by applause six times

He said that in this age of peril "the security of our whole nation—the preservation of our free system—must direct every thought and every decision." Then he declared:

No Sacrifice Too Hard

"We know the enemies of freedom to be equipped with the most terrible weapons of destruction. We know, ther, that we can meet them with only one answer, there is no sacrifice—no labor, no tax, no service—too hard for us to bear to support a logical and necessary defense of our freedom."

Eisenhower noted the Republican party soon will be celebrating its 100th anniversary. He pictured the party as a "magnificent means" through which "countless thousands of devoted citizens can cooperate in conquering the problems that beset free men everywhere."

That appeared to some to be a reply to Truman, who said in Chicago last week that a wrecking crew was at work in Washington, and that it was up to the Democrats to save America and the world from "the road to ruin."

Cites Record

In reciting the administration's record, the President said that since taking office Jan. 2 it has:

1. Practiced "true bipartisanship in international affairs."
2. Seen an end to the fighting in Korea.
3. Given the world "the clearest testimony of our firm allegiance to the common cause and needs of free peoples everywhere." He specified shipments of wheat to Pakistan, rehabilitation aid to Korea and food to Berlin
4. Lifted "stifling artificial controls from our economy."
5. Simplified customs regulations and initiated a review of tariff policy.
6. Used federal authority "to steady farm prices," while "blueprinting extension of social security coverage to more than 10 million unprotected citizens."
7. Redefined policy on public power to assure "maximum of local participation and decision in projects that require the partnership of national, state and local governments."
8. Undertaken "with determination the work of cleaning up governmental operations," and has made "extraordinary progress with this job that so badly needed doing."
9. Reduced government expenditures "by billions of dollars—making a balanced budget somewhat nearer to realization than an accountant's dream."
10. Used federal authority, wherever it clearly extends, "to erase the stain of racial discrimination and segregation."

Murder

the stab wounds on her face and head, the girl's body bore bruises about the shoulders and ribs and it was evident that she had been kicked, the sheriff's department said.

Many Inquiries Received

The stream of family groups and individuals from almost every state in the nation continued to pour into the Wyandot County office today to see the photograph of the girl taken after her body was removed to the Upper Sandusky funeral home. They either left the sheriff's office confident that the mystery woman was not their missing relative, or they were accompanied by a deputy to the funeral home to view the girl's body Inquiries poured in from Kentucky, Michigan, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma and several Ohio communities. Phone calls from Cleveland, Toledo, Steubenville and other Ohio towns were numerous

The girl's body was found Friday morning by a county road employe about three miles north of Upper Sandusky in a wooded area on a lonely gravel road. She wore a knee-length blue flannel nightgown with a flower design and red low-heeled shoes Authorities described her as being about five feet, four inches tall and weighing about 130 pounds. She was judged to be about 18 to 25 years old. Her hair was dark brown with an auburn tint and her skin was suntanned. Her face was badly mutilated by stab wounds, and authorities said she had several front teeth missing

Wyandot County Prosecutor Harold Roth conferred last night with Dr. Emmerich Von Haam, who performed the autopsy at Ohio State University Hospital at Columbus, but Dr. Van Haam said Roth told him not to reveal details of the talk.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

It would seem of his own account in "The Scarlet Thread" that Donald Downes was introduced into the OSS by the British espionage organization in the United States, which, according to him, called itself "Rough Diamonds, Ltd."

SOKOLSKY

While he was working for the OSS as an agent, he was given an office by Frederic Ullman Jr., president of Pathe Newsreel.

The object of this was:

"...It thus provided maximum security against a search by FBI . ."

-:-

IT NEEDS TO be recalled that the OSS was an espionage organization for work abroad. It had no assignment within the United States It would seem that in the OSS, Donald Downes's business was to steal the codes and cyphers of embassies which he describes as "Alphonia, Betonia, and Gammonia, and Vichy France."

According to him, J. Edgar Hoover was annoyed that the OSS was "penetrating" embassies, which Downes boasts with much pride he did with great success.

It appears that Downes's gripe against the FBI is that when his operatives were engaged in rifling the "Alphan" embassy in Washington. "...two FBI squad cars pulled up outside the building and turned on their sirens. It awoke everybody. All the lights . . . ."

He instructed his operatives who telephoned to him:

". . Go home and if you are picked up by the FBI refuse to talk. . ." So he called General Donovan, who "...went to the White House to protest."

I HAVE BEEN able, at great pains, to check something of this incident. The entire siren sequence is false. (On July 30, 1942, there was an incident not far from the "Alphan" embassy — several blocks away. Two men were in a car. They were told to move on.

If Sen. McCarthy had all this material in a form that could be established under oath, he might produce some really hot stuff.

At any rate, President Roosevelt told Donovan to stay away from the embassies.

The next story that Downes tells about the FBI, to show how unpatriotic J. Edgar Hoover is, relates to one Charles Bedeaux, whom I knew very well.

According to Downes, two brothers, Guy and Jacques Calvet (born Cohen), in Algiers, in 1942, offered their services to the United States.

CHARLES BEDEAUX, an American citizen of French birth, had long lived in the United States where he made an enormous fortune as an industrial engineer.

During the war, he tried to sell the Germans the idea of laying a pipeline across the Sahara to bring cheap vegetable oils (mostly peanut oil) from West Africa to Hitler's Europe. (Subsequently, the British expensively and unsuccessfully experimented with Bedeaux's ideas.

Bedeaux was caught trading with the enemy and was arrested largely through betrayal, according to Downes, by Guy Calvet. It seems that Downes wanted Calvet to steal some documents from the French Securite Militaire, which he did, making and keeping photostats of the same.

The FBI also got there and interviewed Calvet. But Downes, an American OSS agent, according to his own admission, spied on FBI agents in the course of their duty. According to Downes, the FBI agent, with a Southern accent, (mind, Downes says he was listening behind a half-open door) wanted all the photostats of Bedeaux's papers which Calvet had kept.

FIRST AS TO the "Southern accent," this is quite amusing I have questioned that one fact because the veracity of much of Downes's book may hinge on it. Either he was hiding in the tiny Calvet store, where nobody could actually hide, and he heard the "Southern accent" or he was not there.

My information is that the FBI operatives, who questioned Calvet, spoke French and Yiddish, mostly French.

Bedeaux committed suicide in Florida while under arrest. Downes says: "On his way home under arrest Charles Bedeaux, officially under the surveillance of the FBI, committed suicide when changing planes in Florida. He took poison, bought in Florida. How he managed to get it can only be surmised."

Actually, while with the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Miami (not the FBI), on Feb. 18, 1944, Charles Bedeaux died from a self-administered dose of luminal He had accumulated small doses, given him for sleeplessness, until he had sufficient for a fatal dose.

These stories are trivial, but out of them Downes tries to give the impression that J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI were traitors during World War II

Police Uncover Teen-age Club In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — City police, looking for a missing girl, uncovered a teen-age club last night that gave entertainment for 150 shouting persons in a room fit for 15.

The police did not find the girl they were seeking but they did discover the "Slow Drag Inn," name of the dance and social organization.

Lt. Carl Wittmyer said the small, basement room, 23 feet long by 13 feet wide, was lighted by a single green bulb. It housed a juke box and some chairs. However, most of the youngsters had to stand because there was no room to sit.

He said the boys and girls were indulging in "sexual promiscuities." Some girls were partially undressed. Empty wine bottles and decks of cards were found on the premises.

Only three officers made the raid, allowing many persons to escape out a window used to shovel in coal.

Police arrested Foster Borders, 30, after the teen-agers said Borders started the "Slow Drag Inn" club a month ago.

Borders said he organized the club "to keep the children off the streets," police reported Nine boy and six girls were charter members, but it expanded quickly Membership dues were 25 cents a week.

Members ranged in age from 13 to 20, though the majority were in the school-age group.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ST. LOUIS

Since the corridors of the DeSoto Hotel, just down the street, were crawling with men who have refused to deny before congressional committees that they were part of the Soviets' espionage rings, or that they would hire men out of the Russian espionage apparatus, or that they had distributed subversive literature in naval installations—I thought—I'd drop in and see just how friends of the Soviet Union operate in this part of our Wall Street world.

RIESEL

And there they were. Friends of Alger Hiss. Men who in 1940 had urged our copper workers not to dig the stuff lest we make anti-Nazi bullets out of it. Men who at this very moment control the digging and refining of almost every strategic war metal — including uranium ore — in the Western Hemisphere.

I wanted especially to see them in action. I wanted to see the men who could convince the Canadian government, for example quietly to give them control of manpower in the newest, most secret, uranium ore refinery in all the Western World.

THIS HAPPENED just a few weeks ago at the refinery in Uranium City, in Northern Saskatchewan

These men must have considerable powers of persuasion They got control of the manpower in that Uranium City refinery without any other union's even getting a chance to be voted in

Who are these people? They are the leaders of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, independent — which is a euphemism because it is really intimately tied up with the Soviet line.

They have been meeting here all week, just a few streets from the Hotel Jefferson where the AFL leaders gathered.

This was better than Broadway melodrama. Here a "fascist bandit of the pen" like myself could slip into the Mine, Mill convention hall and see the gray-haired Nat Witt, friend of Alger Hiss, counseling his union before he took off for a secret rendezvous at the Hotel Continental in Kansas City.

WITT IS the snarling lawyer who was once asked by a congressional committee, "Did you ever give information to Mr. J. David Whittaker Chambers," and refused to answer on grounds that he might incriminate himself.

Later he was asked: "Did you know prior to 1940 that . . . Chambers operated a Russian espionage apparatus between Washington and New York?" And Witt took the privilege. No answer.

There on the platform was the husky who looked like a genial old buccaneer with his black eye patch — and I trust the heirs of ancient pirates will forgive me the analogy

For big boy Maurice Travis, union powerhouse and secretary-treasurer, was asked by a congressional committee last Oct 7

"If you had heard that Witt was a member of the Russian espionage apparatus, would you still have retained him as counsel for the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers of America?"

TRAVIS CAME back with "I refuse to answer that question on the same grounds my rights under the Fifth Amendment." Stout revolutionary, that Travis.

Then this man who dominates this union, which has the U.S. by the jugular vein because its people control production of nickel, copper, zinc, lead, brass, uranium, high octane aviation gas, heavy water for A and H bombs, and also the smelting of this stuff, was asked:

"Do you feel innocent of any part in a conspiracy to undertake to overthrow the government by force and violence?"

Again he took the privilege of silence

And behind the scenes here was the powerful Graham Philip Dolan of Denver Once he was asked by Congress to deny that he distributed Communist literature in the Navy. He took the privilege.

THEN HE WAS asked: "Do you think the Soviet Union has a right to maintain espionage apparatuses within this country?" He consulted with Nat Witt and was silent.

"Do you resent the fact that the Soviet Union has or does maintain espionage apparatuses within the U S ?" Again, the privilege of silence under our Constitution.

Yet these men were able to get on the platform of the union's 60th convention and attack Congress, President Eisenhower and the rest of the government. They met just a few streets down from the FBI's headquarters in the Federal Building But the union was unmolested

-:-

THEY WERE able to get off speeches, paralleling the new Comintern directive urging "unity" with the AFL and CIO. They were undisturbed

They had the right to meet and plan and attack our government, when they wouldn't blast the Soviet Union's government.

So I listened and went over to the AFL gathering to breathe the fresh air among free labor leaders.

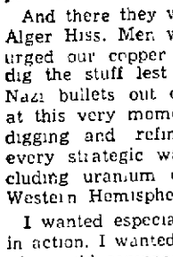
Fit and Form

By Inez Robb

There is a handsome young Frenchman in this city who is about to set out on a cross-country pilgrimage to teach American girls to wear — of all things! —sweaters.



INEZ ROBB

This strikes me as the equivalent of teaching your grandmother how to suck eggs. But Pierre Ancellin, 27, and a Parisian, is full of hope and confidence.

The American girl has the natural equipment and the French have perfected a full - fashioned sweater. M. Ancellin believes the duo, properly adjusted, should produce beautiful music, i. e., whistles and wolf calls.

THE DIFFERENCE between the French and the American sweater girl is a bit esoteric, but here goes: "The French sweater girl emphasizes general allure but the American girl emphasizes pooshing out the sweater with the boost," said M Ancellin in his American offices with Korrigan-Lesur.

"The sweater should follow the boost. It should not be pooshed," he continued "The French sweater flatters the whole figure as much as possible It fits at the waist and there is fullness over the boost."

Americans who have always felt that Miss Lana Turner filled a sweater quite satisfactorily will be interested — if not convinced — to learn that M Ancellin regards the Turner technique as old hat.

"We French," he said, producing the understatement of the week, "like the sexxy look but we also want to leave something to the imagination When you poosh the sweater, you have only facts spread on the record."

THE MODERN sweater girl—one who would look divine letting the sweater follow her, for a change—would be, in the opinion of this young Frenchman, Audrey Hepburn, or Leslie Caron, or Cyd Charisse.

M Ancellin shook himself out of his reverie.

"Of course, Mme. Marilyn Monroe is a sweater dream, if one looks at things from the practical point of view," he added earnestly.

"Is she a poosher or a follower?" I asked.

"A follower, if it matters," M Ancellin diagnosed in a reverent voice.

BUT IF THE French sweater is full-fashioned and anti - poosh, it is anything but baggy, the Frenchman declared.

"Those college girls in those sloppy joe sweaters who try to look like boys!" he exclaimed in horror. "A good sweater is designed to tell the difference between boys and girls at a glance.

"When I enrolled at the Sorbonne after the war, there were even a few French girls who wore those big, shapeless sweaters. But they were all existentialists," he added with scorn, "and they looked it!

American girls, so blessed by nature, should not hide in existentialist sweaters."

THE FRENCH girl, much influenced by her American sisters, is just now becoming a full-fledged sweater girl. She wears them morning, noon and night, M. Ancellin said. But they are not the "classic" sweaters to which the American woman is addicted. The French sweater is fitted whether it is turtle neck model for country wear or an off-the-shoulder design for after dark.

"The French have the fit, the American girl has the form and for myself, I think I have a very hoppy, hoppy time getting the two together," M Ancellin, dashing and debonair, said.

It is just possible that a hoppy, hoppy time will be had by all.

May Have To Add Star

Hawaii Statehood Issue Watched by Flag Makers

NEW YORK (NANA) — The country's flag-manufacturing industry, with offices and showrooms here on or near Fifth Ave. from 23rd St. south, is watching the news from Washington anxiously these days.

President Eisenhower and Congressional leaders are scheduled to decide in about a week whether a special session of Congress is necessary. If there were a special session, the pending issue of statehood for Hawaii — which would mean another star in the flag of the United States of America and, for the flag manufacturers, a new design of the flag — could be included on the agenda.

Senate leaders in August set an "early next session" goal for enactment of the Hawaii statehood bill, which was passed last session by the House of Representatives. The next regular session of the Senate begins Jan. 6.

THE FLAG manufacturers are concerned because they maintain inventories of the 48-star version of the Stars and Stripes that will become obsolete when Hawaii is admitted to the union. Among the six larger manufacturers who make 75 per cent of the 2,000,000 American flags sold annually, inventories range from $50,000 to $150,000.

They are concerned also because the current patterns, mostly for hand-sewn and silk-screen printed flags, will have to be replaced. One of the flag-makers will have to dispose of 150,000 patterns and begin building a new collection.

It takes from nine months to a year to complete the procedures for admitting a new state. If the Hawaii statehood bill had passed last session, the government intended to see that the process took a year, so the industry would have until July 4, 1955, to make the changeover. This would have given the flag-makers 22 months to cut new patterns. An 1818 law signed by President James Monroe provides that addition of a new star "shall take effect" on the July 4 following the state's admission.

IF THE STATEHOOD bill were enacted next January, the industry would be sure of a grace period of 16 months. A special session, however, would face it with the possibility of having to make the change-over in less than a year, and that gives the manufacturers the shivers. With anything less than a year, most manufacturers said, some would-be purchasers would have to be disappointed.

Users other than those who must have the latest design, even in flags, would not be affected. Obsolete flags remain valid and are properly retired and disposed of, preferably by burning, only when they become worn, the makers said. Many flags purchased before July 4, 1912, when the 48-star flag became valid upon admission of Arizona and New Mexico, are treasured by their owners.

Both Congressional joint resolutions and presidential executive orders have determined the design and arrangement of the flag. The 48-star flag dates to President William Howard Taft's executive order of Feb. 14, 1912, approving the recommendations of a Navy and War Department board under Adm. George Dewey. The flag-makers had four months in which to produce it.

CONGRESS ADOPTED a flag code in 1942. Its committees deliberating on statehood have received suggestions, mostly from the industry, on changes in the flag's design. Digby W. Chandler, president of Annin & Co., has presented on behalf of his concern a proposal that the union — the part of the flag that carries the stars —have five rows of five stars and four of six, instead of the present six rows of eight stars.

One bureau of the government, the Heraldic Branch of the Quartermaster General's Office in Washington, has jurisdiction over problems of flags and insignia for the Armed Forces. Whether the design be fixed by Congressional resolution or presidential order, its recommendations will carry weight.

When the design is fixed, an interdepartmental committee is expected by the industry to be set up to turn out blueprints to be distributed to flag manufacturers. The Armed Forces make their own flags, in Brooklyn, Philadelphia and San Francisco, chiefly. But the federal government buys between 10,000 and 15,000 flags a year from the industry for civilian buildings and departments.

Child Guidance Expert To Talk To Executives

First fall meeting of the Marion Executives Club, to be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m. at the Harding Hotel, will feature child guidance expert Mrs. Paul Whitney as guest speaker.

A social worker, author, public speaker, and authority on child training, Mrs. Whitney will talk on "Is American Schooling Overdone?"

A member of the Associated Clubs of Princeton, N. J. association, the Executives Club meets once each month from October through April with the exception of December.

Club program consists of bringing public speakers on a variety of subjects to Marion for after-dinner entertainment of members.

Saturday night's speaker, Mrs Whitney, has been a public speaker for the last 10 years and during that time has spoken before numerous educational groups, parent-teacher associations, and other organizations interested in youth.

A graduate of Wisconsin University and the Crane School of Music, she also has a masters degree from Syracuse University.

Her talk is billed as a vital message for men and women and especially for parents. Visits to thousands of homes in all walks of life are said to have given her a close understanding of the problems of parents and the importance of parent education in child guidance.

MRS. PAUL WHITNEY

Her work has taken her from a position as a director of an experimental playground in the Milwaukee slums through 12 years experience in a Syracuse, N. Y. high school as student counselor, and teacher of health and mental hygiene.

ENTERS BOWLING GREEN

Dennis Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jones of 242 N. Grand Ave., has entered Bowling Green State University as a pre-law student. He was graduated in June from Harding High School.

Doctors Lose Fight To Save Westlake Boy

Accident Victim's Heart Revived but Finally Stops Beating

CLEVELAND (AP) Given his second chance at life last night when doctors revived his stilled heart, a 13-year-old boy died today.

Wendell Law, who was hit by an automobile, died at 4 40 a. m., about nine hours after a physician laid open the child's chest and messaged the vital organ.

"He was actually officially dead for some time," said Dr. Samuel Sheppard, chief of Bay View Hospital's neurosurgical and orthopedic department, who performed the heart operation.

The stimulated heart continued to beat until the boy died, but "We had to do his breathing for him," Dr. Sheppard said. He attributed death to medullary paralysis with respiratory failure.

Fourteen physicians, assembling for a regular staff meeting on the second floor assisted Dr. Sheppard when the boy was taken to the emergency room below in critical condition. They worked in shifts through the night.

Wendell, the son of Mrs Della Smothers of Westlake, had run across a road near his home into the side of a car driven by a 16-year-old Elyria youth.

Rushed to the hospital, he showed signs of a fractured skull, brain concussion, multiple internal injuries, possible blood clot on the brain and fractures of both legs. Fifteen minutes later his heart stopped beating.

Immediately the doctor made a chest incision and manually began pumping the organ. For three to five minutes, Dr. Sheppard said, "there was no effective heart beat, and we could have said he was dead."

Dr. Frank M. Bennett, entered the boy's lung cavity through his mouth with a tube and pumped oxygen and carbon dioxide into him in an effort to stimulate respiration.

"From about 8 o'clock, we had to breath for him," Dr. Sheppard continued, "and he was never able to do it himself."

The heart massage continued for about an hour, while doctors pierced the boy's skull to drain of masses of blood that were clogging his brain.

But damage to the medulla, vital center of the brain, "did not dissipate itself until its final manifestation, his death," Dr. Sheppard said.

Summer Bids Chilly Goodby

Temperature Drops as Season Draws to Close

By The Associated Press

The summer season, officially bowing out tomorow morning, was getting a chilly farewell today in wide areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

It was freezing or near freezing over sections of the Midwest to the Rockies. The cool Canadian air dipped southward to the Gulf of Mexico except in Florida and extreme southern Texas.

Below freezing readings were reported early today in parts of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois.

The summer season ends officially at 3:07 a.m. EST Wednesday.

Precipitation was confined to small areas in western Washington and along the new England coast. Earlier, however, the showers extended from North Carolina to Maine.

In central south Florida flood waters threatened 200,000 acres of farm and cattle land.

A dozen families were forced to leave their homes after a four-block area in North Dade County near Miami was flooded.

Second Burglary Try Fails for Nevada Youth

Special to The Star

NEVADA—A 17-year-old Nevada boy broke into the Midway Beer Parlor here twice within 45 minutes over the week end.

The youth first entered the establishment at 1:15 a.m. Saturday by breaking a window at the rear of the building. Between $40 and $60 was taken, and other possible thefts had not been accounted for.

Marshal Edgington, in making his round of inspection, discovered the broken window and decided to do a little watching. About 2 a.m. the youth returned to the building, this time with a 16-year-old friend.

The boys were taken into custody and turned over to the Wyandot County sheriff. They are being held at the county jail until time for a hearing.

Delaware Parents Start Own Crusade On Highway Safety

Special to The Star

DELAWARE—Three mothers of Liberty Union School students began a crusade this week to slow traffic on U. S. Route 23 and protect loaded school buses heading for Olentangy High School.

The mothers, Mrs. J. Farley Foster, Mrs. Mary Murphy and Mrs. Charles Douglas, all of near Delaware, waved homemade signs and red bandanna handkerchiefs at the passing cars between 8:20 and 9 a.m. Monday and they plan to be on duty twice daily all week.

The crusade was brought on by the continued inaction of the state highway department to eliminate the traffic hazard where three of the school buses turn off the highway onto the Scott-Shanahan road, the mothers said. All three women have children on the buses.

George Alsdorf, traffic engineer for the highway department, said he planned to discuss the marking of school bus turnings with the division engineer, H. D. Schoonover. Parents who manned the traffic posts yesterday said they were convinced warning signs would not be enough and that flasher lights and possibly a traffic signal would be needed.

Edmundo Amoros of the St. Paul club is the only baseball player in American Association history to hit home runs in nine ball parks in one season. He did it in 1952, when the Toledo franchise was moved to Charleston in mid-season.

BRT Asking $3 A Day Increase

Demand Covers All Railroads in U.S.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The 215,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will demand a wage increase of $3 a day, effective Oct. 1, from every railroad in the country.

W. P. Kennedy, president of the independent union, said yesterday he had "every reason to believe" the BRT's demands would be met and that he did not anticipate opposition from the railroads.

Kennedy said the 175-member General Chairmen's Assn., of the BRT had voted unanimously yesterday to seek a wage increase of 37½ cents an hour. The move was recommended last month by the union's 14-member wage and rule committee at a meeting in Cleveland.

More than 25,000,000 tons of freight were unloaded by the U. S. Army at Yokohama, Japan, during the first three years of the conflict in Korea.

Harness Drivers Defend Curly Smart

BAYLOR UPSETS MIGHTY BEARS. In a stunning upset, Baylor beat the University of California 25-0 at Berkeley, Calif., in what was termed the worst defeat handed to the California team since Lynn Waldorf took over as coach in 1947. Above, Dupre (47), Baylor halfback, is advancing the pigskin four yards before being brought down in the first quarter. Dupre later took the ball over for the first touchdown of the game.

Fellow Pilots Call USTA Suspension Order Unfair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some of the nation's top harness racing drivers and trainers today came to the support of one of their colleagues handed a suspension by the U. S. Trotting Assn., for his alleged part in administering a medicant to a horse before a race at a Michigan track.

Wayne (Curly) Smart, stocky pipe-smoking driver from Delaware and one of the best drivers in the business, was given a year's suspension yesterday by USTA President Lawrence B. Sheppard. Sheppard said Smart was responsible under association rules although he was not present at Detroit's Wolverine track the day a medicant was given Abbasong, a horse Smart was training.

The bespectacled native Ohioan planned to pilot Dutch Dandy in the Little Brown Jug classic Thursday. Some of the leading drivers in the sport, present at the Delaware track when Smart's suspension was announced, immediately jumped to his defense.

Joe Neville, Delaware lawyer and founder of the Little Brown Jug, called the suspension:

"The biggest lynch party I ever heard of. We're going to fight."

Del Miller, one of the most successful drivers and trainers in the business, said the USTA move was "completely without justice."

He and Del Cameron, Benny Schu and Frank Safford said they would start a "protection fund" for Curly.

Miller said Smart didn't need the money but the fund was to show him "the trainers and drivers are all behind him."

Sheppard himself said he believed Smart was innocent of doping or knowing about the doping of any horses. Smart said he would appeal the suspension.

The USTA suspension was in line with one meted out to Smart by the Michigan Racing Commission Smart succeeded last Friday in getting a court order delaying the Michigan ban.

Indians' Lopez Faces Chicago Court Action

CHICAGO (AP)—Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians can expect a call from a process server when he brings his team to town to play the White Sox tonight.

Mrs. Caryl Zinkil of Suburban Oak Park yesterday filed a $25,000 damage suit in Superior Court against Lopez. The suit charges Mrs. Zinkil was struck in the face by a lump of dirt thrown by Lopez July 10. It charges she suffered an eye infection permanently impairing her sight.

The suit grew out of an incident during the second game of a Cleveland-White Sox doubleheader in Comiskey Park.

Mrs. Zinkil and her husband, Ray, an Oak Park detective, said they were sitting in a box behind the Cleveland dugout. A fan was heckling Lopez, and during the seventh inning when the Sox scored 10 runs, Mrs Zinkil said Lopez turned and hurled dirt into the boxes.

At the time, Lopez denied he threw dirt. He said he had picked up a bat and waved it in a "kidding way" at the heckler.

Brownies Release Bruney, Schnelker

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns released six men today, cutting the squad to the 33-player limit for the league season.

Those released were

Halfback Fred Bruney, tackle Ed Rowland, end Don Steinbrunner, end Bob Schnelker, guard Cleo Wallace and fullback Willie Carter.

Bruney, who is from Martins Ferry, and played for Ohio State last year, was sent to the San Francisco 49ers, who needed a defensive back.

Power Shovel Team Wins 4-0 For City Title

Marion Power Shovel reigned as city champs today after blanking Carl's Auto Parts 4-0 in a Little World Series game Monday night at Garfield Park. It marked the end of the softball season in Marion this year.

Dwight Wilcox hurled a two-hitter in leading Power Shovel to the win. The safeties were garnered by the first two batters Wilcox faced but he settled down to hold the losers hitless the rest of the route.

Lefty Culver led off with a single and Willie Jones followed with another single for the only Carl's Auto Parts' hits.

Sonny Taylor, hurling for Carl's, only allowed four hits. The winners scored twice off Taylor in the first on a hit for what proved to be enough for the margin of victory. Wilcox aided his own cause with a homer in the fifth for the third Shovel run and once more in the sixth on a pair of hits.

Fritz Walters pooled out a double for the Shovel team. Junior Gruber had two singles and Wilcox the homer.

Carl's went into the game with the problem of having to beat Shovel twice for the city championship. Shovel had gone through the Series unscratched, while Carl's, with one loss in Series competition, had outlasted two other teams to advance to the championship tilt.

Vernon, Furillo Leading Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Vernon had to wait seven years to prove he was a true champion.

The Washington Senators' first baseman hit .349 in 1946 to win the American League batting championship but most baseball observers shrugged it off by saying he was lucky. That was his only .300 season and up to 1953 his lifetime batting average was a so-so 280

Vernon has silenced all his critics this year, however, as he's well on his way to a second title with a .336 average—seven points better than runner-up Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians. He's driven in 114 runs and has shown surprising extra-base power with 43 doubles, 11 triples and 15 home runs.

In the National League, the injured Carl Furillo continues to set the pace with a 344 average but teammate Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers is edging up on him. Snider, currently the hottest hitter in the league, picked up seven points during the week to .339 on nine hits for 15 at bats and jumped from sixth to second.

Hayes Prepares To Turn Loose OSU Grid Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With defensive wrinkles smoothed out, a punter chosen and a new addition to the fullback corps, Coach Woody Hayes is just about ready to shake his Ohio State Buckeyes loose on Indiana in the season football opener Saturday.

After yesterday's workout Hayes said.

"Our defense looked very good, but as so often happens, the offense slipped."

Hayes picked Johnny Borton, an Alliance junior, to do the kicking after a lengthy drill in competition with co-Capt. Bob Joslin and Bud Bond.

Jerry Harkrader did most of the fullbacking for the first string yesterday in his first serious try at the position. He was shifted from right half.

The position is not new to the 180-pound Middletown gridder at OSU though. He played it in high school, but the fact that he has missed three weeks of practice because of a knee injury may mean that he won't get the starting assignment.

Archers Schedule Last Shoot Before Deer Season Opens

E J. Leadenham of 130½ Clover Ave. continued to take honors in shoots sponsored by the Marion Archers' Club when he won a field meet at the Hickory Grove Lake area Sunday.

A combination of scores from two shoots put Leadenham in top spot. Frank Louck of 308 E. Farming St. came in second and Charles Myers of near Marion finished third.

Leadenham took the first meet, with Louck second and Don Davison of Delaware third. Louck took the second shoot with Leadenham only three points behind and Myers in third spot.

Another meet is set this Sunday at Hickory Grove Lake. The last shoot before the deer season opens in Michigan, it will begin at 2 p.m with two 28-target shoots. Combined scores of the two meets will determine the winner of the shoot and prizes will be archery equipment instead of trophies and medals.

The public is invited. Officials of the local archers' club say the meet will be held regardless of weather.

Harding Announces Shift To Northwest Ohio District

Harding High School today announced its transfer from the Central District of the Ohio High School Athletic Association into the Northwest District.

Approval of the shift was received yesterday from Harold Emswiler, state high school athletic commissioner. Announcement of the shift was made last night at a meeting of the Harding Booster Club.

Cecil Gabler, Harding principal, said negotiations for the shift were started last spring with Emswiler. The commissioner told local officials three things were necessary before approval could be granted.

Harding was required to gain a release from the Central District Board, gain acceptance from the Northwest District and finally approval of the state association. Acceptance by the Northwest District was announced last week by the district head, Harold Bowman, superintendent at Bowling Green The Central District release was gained last summer.

Gabler pointed out the shift was made for a variety of reasons. He said Harding's relations at present are with schools north of Marion in the new district. Harding is the southernmost member of the Buckeye League which includes not only athletics but band and chorus activities as well. The move is expected to strengthen Buckeye League relations.

Another reason for the transfer was the sectional basketball tournament now held in Marion. Harding will see action in that event along with most members of the old NCO League. Overcrowded conditions in the Central League and Harding's borderline position were other reasons for the shift.

Gabler added the shift would affect only athletics at Harding. Local teachers will continue to attend the same teachers' meeting they have visited in former years

Sectional winners from the Northwest District see action at Toledo.

Redlegs Meet Cubs in Final Doubleheader

CINCINNATI (AP)—In their last twin bill of the year, the Cincinnati Redlegs today play the redhot Chicago Cubs a twi-night doubleheader.

Harry Perkowski and Fred Baczewski, members of the left-handers pitching stable, will attempt to protect the Redlegs' sixth place position.

The seventh-place Cubs will put lefties Howie Pollet and Paul Minner on the mound.

Ladys First Wins Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Ladys First, a fast 2-year-old filly, lived up to her name last night by winning both heats of the feature at Lebanon Raceway.

The brown trotter, owned by the Ohio Valley Stable of Hamilton, went around both times in 2.11 4-5, one of the slowest clockings of the night.

Dillard Moris placed in the third event to pay the highest price of the evening, $38.40.

Steve Van Buren Quits Professional Grid Loop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Steve Van Buren, one of pro football's all-time greats, has been retired for the 1953 season, Philadelphia Eagles' General Manager Vince McNally announced today.

The veteran halfback, who holds five National Professional Football League records for yards gained and touchdowns scored, has been kept inactive by a knee injury suffered in the first scrimmage of the 1952 training camp. He was out of action throughout last season.

Van Buren broke into pro football with the Eagles in 1944.

Bosox Vote 39 Shares

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox have voted to cut their fourth place World Series cash, probably about $400 a head, into 39 shares.

Manager Lou Boudreau refused to announce the list but indicated Ted Williams was voted a full share.

Tribe Attempts To Pull Away From Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The second place Cleveland Indians are two games ahead of the Chicago White Sox, but Manager Al Lopez wants them to widen the distance tonight and tomorrow.

A pair of wins would give them a four-game edge, a split would leave them where they are, and a double loss would mean a tie for the second position.

After the two games here, Cleveland finishes off the season with three games against Detroit, while the White Sox toy with the St. Louis Browns for the same number of games.

Southpaw Billy Pierce (17-11) will be pitching for Chicago tonight, and Bob Feller for the Indians.

Toledo Nipped 3-2, Playoff Evened Up

By The Associated Press

Kansas City, eliminating Indianapolis from the American Association playoffs, now marks time while Toledo and Louisville battle it out tonight for the other final berth.

The Blues defeated the Tribe 2-0 behind Bob Wiesler's five hitter yesterday to take the series 4 games to 2.

Louisville edged Toledo 3-2 to square their set 3-3 and project the showdown tonight.

Marciano Closes Camp; Ready for Thursday Bout

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano was scheduled to climb into the ring at his Catskill Mountain retreat today and box his final three rounds before taking on Roland Lastarza on Thursday in the Polo Grounds.

The mud-mannered champion still declined to make any prediction as to the outcome of the title scrap. He says he's just going to do his best, despite the pleadings of his manager, Al Weill.

The former matchmaker for the sponsoring International Boxing Club, Weill has been needling his charge to make it short.

"I'm not as young as I used to be," Weill told Marciano. "Climbing up and down those ring steps won't do my heart any good. Get it over for me fast, boy."

All the Rock would answer was: "Okay, Al, you can count on me to do my best."

The followers at the camp didn't know whether to laugh or keep straight faces when Weill issued his plea to Marciano.

Major League Standings Could Still Show Changes

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

With just six days to play, the standings of the National and American Leagues could still undergo considerable change before being entered in the final record books.

Five places in each League remain undecided. So far the only teams guaranteed of finishing on Sunday right where they are today are pennant-winning Brooklyn, runner-up Milwaukee and last place Pittsburgh in the National League and the champion New York Yankees, fourth place Boston and fifth place Washington in the American.

Cleveland gets a chance tonight and tomorrow to nail down second place in the American League The Indians invade Chicago for two games with the White Sox who trail them by two. A sweep would give Manager Al Lopez his third straight runner-up finish with the Indians.

An all-victorious climax to the 1953 season would give the Indians their third identical year — 93 victories and 61 losses. They have five games left and a current mark of 88-61.

Near the bottom of the American League Detroit needs to win three of four remaining games to assure sixth place. At the moment the Tigers lead Philadelphia by a game and a half. The A's have five games left. If they can capture even one of the five they'll avoid any share of last place.

The Browns appear almost certain to wind up their days in St. Louis at the bottom of the heap but by winning their last four they might tie the Athletics.

Third place in the National League's still up for grabs between St Louis and Philadelphia. The Cards whipped the Chicago Cubs 4-0 last night in the only action in either league and moved a game and a half ahead of the Phillies. St Louis has six games to play, Philadelphia five.

The New York Giants, in fifth place, might get caught by Cincinnati. The Redlegs also could sink to seventh if they dropped their three game series with the Cubs which opens tonight. The Cubs are now in seventh.

Harvey Haddix, pitching his first full season in the big leagues, won his 19th game for the Cardinals and his sixth shutout. He aided his own cause with a triple, one of only five hits collected by the Cardinals.

Haddix allowed the Cubs three singles plus a double by Hank Sauer.

Rain yesterday washed out the Yankees' final appearance in Boston.

Dodgers' Joe Black Gains Nod In Test of Fastball Moundsmen

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (NANA)— Sports history of sorts was made at Ebbets Field here prior to the start of a recent doubleheader between the Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies.

In a test conducted by Du Mont Laboratories engineers, the zooming fast-ball deliveries of Dodger stalwarts Bob Milliken, Billy Loes, Johnny Podres and Ben Wade were measured in addition to those of Joe Black, last year's lifesaver in Brooklyn's 1952 drive for the National League Pennant.

In the test, the hurlers pitched their fast ball before the cathode-Ray oscillograph, a product of the Du Mont Laboratories, which measures time to within the minutest fraction of a second. The baseballs were through two frames equipped with photoelectric cells.

Purpose of the test was to determine whether any modern-day fast-ball twirler can pitch a baseball at a speed exceeding 100 miles per hour. This was to be decided by the pitchers throwing a ball through two photoelectric cells so that the speed of their pitches could be accurately reproduced on the face of the cathode-ray oscillograph. This instrument would measure the time that the ball took passing between the two photoelectric screens. The time then was translated into miles-per-hour and fractions thereof

Each pitcher was to have made five deliveries but because they missed passing between the screens on some of their throws varying numbers were made until five tosses by each contender had gone before the oscillograph. Joe Black, with a toss measured at 93 20 miles per hour, was declared the winner and Johnny Podres, 88.50 M. P. H, was rated second, Milliken, at 83 50 M. P. H., placed third.

Thus a new statistic is available for baseball record books, encyclopedias and almanacs Steve O'Neill, prior to the test, declined to let Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons partake of it because, he said, as the Phillies were fighting for second place in the standings, he wanted to run no chance of either injuring an arm.

WELCOMED ROYAL VISIT

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) —Irish cockfighting fans are hoping for another Royal visit soon. Cockfighting is illegal in Northern Ireland but the bigest and most successful tournament in years was staged during the visit of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. The tourney took place while almost the entire Ulster police force was away guarding the Royal route. County Tyrone now holds the championship of Ireland. But Monoghan is looking for another Royal visit soon so it can have another crack at the title.

BEAT OLDSTERS

ELYRIA, O. (AP)—The Bowling League of American Legion Post No. 12 here finishes its season in unique fashion. Vets of World War I play against World War II Legionaires. The losers buy steak dinners, for the winners. The younger bowlers won this year's contest but the best score, 605, was turned in by Hayden Evans, a World War I man.

Appeal Made For 100 More Blood Donors

WANTED—more than 100 additional volunteer donors for the first fall visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit Thursday at the First Presbyterian Church.

This urgent appeal comes from Robert S. Kramer, blood program chairman, whose job it is to see that Marion Countians, numbering 200, volunteer to provide 150 pints of blood next Thursday. To date 90 volunteers are registered at the local Red Cross Chapter office. Marion County's quota is 150 pints of blood.

Thursday will mark the first call for volunteers since July and the supply is at a crucially low figure, reports show. At the center in Columbus, the supply on hand permits only emergency calls to be supplied.

At the Marion City Hospital there is almost a constant demand for blood. In July 110 pints were supplied for the Hospital and in August the local chapter received calls for 102 pints. This also was made available.

Volunteers are asked to register and avoid delays not only for themselves but also to leave time for a donor whose time is limited but who wants to help save a life at home or in some veterans' hospital.

Volunteers may register by calling the chapter offce, 2-1653.

OSU Orientation Week Opens Wednesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Orientation week for new students opens tomorrow at Ohio State University where officials predicted a 20 per cent increase in freshman enrollment.

The school was preparing to greet some 6,100 students including 4,300 freshmen and 1,800 new advanced students, who will take part in a series of events leading up to start of the university's 81st year of classes Sept. 29.

President Howard L. Bevis will address the students at a convocation in Ohio Stadium tomorrow morning. "Rushing" activities for the Greek-letter organizations on the campus also begin this week.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a broad rally today, spurred by Treasury Secretary Humphrey's statement that income taxes will be cut and the excess profits tax will die at the end of the year.

Advances of around a point were sprinkled through the list. Volume mounted with the advance, but in the opinion of some brokers could not be called impressive.

Groups showing the best strength included the rails, motors, aircrafts, televisions, coppers and rubbers. Most other sections also were higher.

Gains of a point or more were recorded at one time by Republic Steel, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Zenith, Kennecott, Du Pont, International Paper, Aluminum Ltd., Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, Illinois Central, General Electric, Celanese, Pure Oil and Richfield.

COLLEGE BOUND

WITH THE HELP OF

PROFITS FROM HIS

NEWSPAPER ROUTE

TODAY, many enterprising young Americans — former Newspaperboys, like the typical college man above — are using part of the earnings from their routes as a future college fund. To these young merchants the money saved from route profits often means the difference between ordinary schooling and the specialized training needed for success in the career they choose.

Yet what they LEARN as Newspaperboys is just as valuable as what they EARN. The practical training in sales and service, collecting, record keeping, as well as the habits of punctuality, reliability and thrift all add up to a foundation for success in manhood. In addition to a college fund, they have extra money for clothes, sports, school and hobbies.

$64 Question Proves Costly For Californian

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UP) — Answering a "$64 question" cost a housewife here exactly that much—plus a certain amount of faith in people.

Mrs. Barbara M. Farrell, 65, told police she answered her phone and a man identified himself as "Bill Wilson, a master of ceremonies for a quiz show sponsored by the Ford Foundation."

"The Ford Motor company recently celebrated an anniversary," he said. "Which one was it? If you answer correctly, you win twice the amount of cash you now have in your house."

"The fifieth," Mrs. Farrell answered.

Two Checks

"You are absolutely right," the man yelled into the phone. "Now how much money do you have in the house?"

"Why, $64," she replied.

"Then that's exactly half of what you have won," he said. "We'll send it to you by messenger right away."

The messenger appeared shortly afterward with checks for $128 and $64. He gave her the $128 check, explaining that was the prize, and then asked for the $64 cash in exchange for the other check "to prove to the studio how much you had."

Mrs. Farrell became suspicious later and called the studio, which said it had no "Bill Wilson" nor any such program.

Wooster's Metered Parking Lot Flops

WOOSTER, O. (UP) — Rural Ohio's first experiment with a metered parking lot has fallen flat so far, but there may be reasons.

With the rest of the non-urban part of the state looking on, this town established a new municipal parking lot almost on the public square last Deeember and installed meters, for a total cost of $180,000. Revenue bonds paid for it.

In the first three months of operation the lot took in only $383.79—the odd figure being accounted for by motorists who dropped pennies in for short stays.

Half-a-dozen things that might be contributing to the apparent failure of the lot are evident, however, including lack of pavement, only two entrances, and two free city parking lots only a couple of blocks away. The lot has now been paved, but the other factors remain and the city fathers are wondering whether the whole thing is worth while.
